WAR'S MIGHTIEST BATTLE IS NOW RAGING

BERLIN REPORT HINTS RETREAT OF THE GERMANS

Official Statement Describes Fight as
One of Greatest in History
and Admits Retirement.

LOSSES OF ARTILLERY ARE INDICATED

Berlin, April 17.—Via London.—“One of the greatest battles of the mighty war and therefore also in the world's history,” says the official statement issued today by the German army headquarters staff, “is in progress on the River Aisne.”

“In the Champagne this morning,” the German statement adds, “fighting between Prunay and Auberville developed, the battle line thereby extending from the river Oise into the Champagne.”

“Our troops anticipate with entire confidence the coming heavy fighting.”

“A great French attempt to break through yesterday, the object of which was far-reaching, failed,” according to the announcement. “The losses of the enemy were very heavy. More

ASSAILS PRUSSIAN MILITARY CASTE FOR FAILURE IN AMERICA

Copenhagen, April 16.—Via London, April 17.—In today's Berlin Tageblatt Theodore Wolff comes to the defense of Count von Bernstorff and the German-Americans against the attacks made upon them in the conservative and pan-German press. The latest example of these attacks was in the weekly review, the Kreuz Zeitung, in which it was asserted that the Washington embassy had been perhaps the weakest point in the whole system of German diplomacy and had failed in correct judgment of American conditions and American temperament. Herr Wolff declares that this charge is utterly false. As for the German-Americans he says:

“The German-Americans, whom the jingo writers now wish to disown and repudiate for failing in their mission in America, have a legitimate grievance against the pan-German jingoes, whose extravagance of language and action has made any attempt to explain and defend Germany futile. Many of the German-Americans are out of sympathy with the Prussia of caste privilege and bureaucratic tutelage, but if Prussia and the empire had a complete re-birth, the obstacles to love and attachment of the old fatherland would disappear.”

PARLIAMENT WILL WELCOME ENTRY OF AMERICA INTO FIELD

LONDON, April 17.—When parliament reassembles this afternoon after the Easter recess, one of the first acts of the government will be to offer in both houses resolutions welcoming the entry of America into the war. These will be moved on Wednesday by Premier Lloyd George in the house of commons and by Lord Curzon in the house of lords. It is expected that former Premier Asquith will second the resolution in the commons.

The business before the commons today will be the second reading of the bill to prolong the life of the present parliament for several months from April 30. The bill must be passed by the latter date or a general election becomes inevitable. The government seems confident of its ability to pass the measure through at a single sitting, but it is said that certain currents are tending to force an election. The strength of these forces is unknown and the rumors in regard to them are conflicting. Opposition to the bill is said in some quarters to be threatened by the nationalists, but their attitude has not been made public, and may possibly not be decided until this afternoon when the party meets to consider the situation. The public is completely ignorant in regard to the whole question of an Irish settlement, and everybody is awaiting information as to the stand of the government. The attitude of the nationalists toward the prolongation of the parliament depends upon this information. According to some of the Dublin correspondents the outlook is regarded pessimistically there.

German Cruiser Karlsruhe Blown Up by Internal

of Ship's Fate.

San Juan, Porto Rico, April 11.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—What is believed to be authentic information as to the fate of the German cruiser Karlsruhe, which was active in the waters of the Caribbean sea and off the coast of Brazil during the first months of the war, was given this week by Heinrich Lubinus, former prize officer on the Karlsruhe and who brought the German prize K. D. III in this port in January, 1915. The K. D. III was formerly the British freighter Farnen and was captured October 5, 1914.

Sunk by Explosion.
The Karlsruhe was sunk following an internal explosion on November 4, 1914, not far from the island of Trinidad, according to Captain Lubinus, who said that he had only recently received this information direct from Germany from one of the surviving officers of the cruiser. This statement gives confirmation to reports from Trinidad about that time saying that life-preservers and portions of wreckage believed to have come from the Karlsruhe had been picked up there.

According to Captain Lubinus, Captain Kohler, commander of the Karlsruhe, several of the officers and more than 100 men lost their lives when the cruiser went down.

“The Karlsruhe was not built for tropical service,” said Captain Lubinus.

SOUTH BEND HAS WARM CAMPAIGN OF ENLISTMENT

South Bend, Ind., April 17.—It is expected that Monday's record-breaking number of enlistments will be equaled today at the various recruiting stations in South Bend. When the offices opened this morning scores of men were waiting to make inquiry regarding term of service and other matters of importance. By May 1 local recruiting officers state that South Bend will have furnished a greater percentage of men, based on population, than any city in the country. Organization of the headquarters company for the Third Indiana infantry will be completed tomorrow night. When the national state work here is completed South Bend will have four companies of infantry and one troop of cavalry.

A MONARCH WHO KNOWS MEANING OF WORD PEACE

Berlin, April 17.—Emperor Charles of Austria, is quoted by Bjorne Bjornson as saying in an interview at Luxembourg, “I have lived a long time in the field and have seen men fall and die at my feet. Therefore, I know also, may be better than any other emperor or king what peace means.”

INDIANA CITIES HAVE FAMINE OF AMERICAN FLAGS

South Bend, Ind., April 17.—A famine in flags exists in South Bend, Mishawaka, Elkhart and Goshen. Patriotism on the part of the residents of these cities has stripped the stores of their entire supplies.

BERLIN SAYS STRIKE PERIL PASSES AWAY

Berlin, Monday, April 16.—(Via London, April 17.)—A day of apprehension to Berlin ended tonight without alarming events. The threatened strikes because of a reduction in the weekly bread ration materialized in only a portion of the largest factories and did not affect transportation nor public utilities.

The strike leaders had planned an elaborate system of street demonstrations, which were to unite in an outdoor assemblage, but inclement weather kept down enthusiasm. Some of the factories affected announced tonight that the workmen would resume work tomorrow. In others meetings will be held in the morning to decide the future course of the strikers.

The strikers are limited to factories manned by unions belonging to the Liebknecht-Ledebur branch of the socialist democracy. The Scheide-mann group is not striking.

Summary of the Day's War News

Along a 150 mile front battle line the French and British are pushing back the German armies in a titanic struggle for the mastery of the western front.

Stepping into the fray after the British had been hammering the German lines in the Argas region to his for a week, the French struck along a twenty-five-mile front along the Aisne, carried the German positions to an average depth of from two to two and a half miles, captured more than 100,000 prisoners and maintained all the ground won. Last night after the great success of their initial rush General Nivelle's forces occupied themselves with consolidating their new positions and resisting German counter attacks. All these assaults were repulsed and in the Aisne region, west of Craonne, the Germans suffered heavy losses. Their total casualties all told in the first twenty-four hours' fighting are estimated at 400,000 men. Both British and French reports today indicate that the continuation of the operations is being hampered by bad weather. Nevertheless the British pushed forward in the region between St. Quentin and Cambrai, advancing east to Ephepy to Tombois farm within two and a half miles of Lacatelet, where they threaten to cut the St. Quentin-Cambrai main line of communication.

The strategic outlines of the Anglo-French attack have been worked out in complete harmony by the staffs of the two armies. The dispatches indicate entire coordination for placing and timing the blows delivered so as to insure success.

HOW ABOUT SQUIRT GUNS FOR ALIENS?

Man Wants to Know if They
Are to Be Considered
as Dangerous.

“My boy has a toy squirt gun out to the house and I wonder if I ought to bring it to the station,” a man asked Chief Lenz in all seriousness Tuesday morning. He thought there might be serious objections to his retaining such an instrument about the home because he said he recalled a decision by Judge Kerr in which a street car conductor was fined $10 for carrying a squirt gun. In that case the judge held the miniature weapon to be dangerous. Chief Lenz does not believe it holds in the late alien ruling. Many weapons were brought to police headquarters Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning. Chief Lenz says that while some of the foreigners may have to be told of the law he does not think that a man in Fort Wayne will refuse to carry out the order for turning over all dangerous weapons.

THE FIRST GREAT WOE OF THE WAR.

Wheeling, W. Va., April 17.—Seven hundred persons, 500 stogie makers and 200 girls employed as strippers, were out of employment here today as a result of the closing down for an indefinite period of the two plants of the largest stogie manufacturing concern in Wheeling. The high cost of material and labor is said to be responsible for the order closing the plants.

PEACE DESIRE OF AUSTRIANS

People of Dual Monarchy
Ready for Any Terms
Not Humiliating.

NO TERRITORY OR INDEMNITY GOES

Empire is Nearing End of Its Resources and is Weary
of War.

Berne, Switzerland, Monday, April 16.—(Via Paris, April 17.)—Peace and spring weather are what the Austrian and Hungarian people most desire. During a long stay in Vienna, whence the Associated Press correspondent has just come, there was observed every indication that the government and the people are willing to accept any peace proposal leaving Austria-Hungary's territory intact and naming no claim for war indemnity.

By the same token there appears to be no doubt that the monarchy will continue fighting unless these minimum conditions are met. While the public is extremely weary of war its mind is made up to persist in the struggle to the end rather than accept humiliating terms.

End of Resources Near.
The demands made on Austria-Hungary's economic resources and human reservoir by the war is beginning to reach the limit of bearableness and the severe winter, whose after-effects are still felt, tend to increase the great burden borne by the population. The sowing of crops are about three weeks behind, which causes considerable anxiety, notwithstanding the fact that the winter crops are reported as in

CANADIAN AD MEN HAIL US AS BROTHERS

Indianapolis, Ind., April 17.—A letter approving the action of the United States in declaring war on Germany, written by representatives of the Canadian section of the International Circulation Managers' association, has been received here by J. M. Schmidt, the president of the association. The letter was dated at Toronto. It says: “Now that the United States has joined the partnership of democratic nations in the unselfish struggle to overthrow a sinister conspiracy against liberty, justice and right, we cordially and fraternally welcome our American brotherhood as real friends and valuable allies to co-operate with the Canadian section of our association in all that may help to vindicate the great principles of freedom which our respective nations commonly uphold and represent.”

“We appreciate and approve the deliberate and determined action which the United States has now taken, and recognize the exalted and dignified sentiment contained in your president's statement and the practical legislation proposed by the United States Senate. We beg to assure you that we are right with you as we feel you will be with us in helping to bring the war to a successful conclusion for the several nations now fighting against the central powers and that a lasting peace for humanity will ensue.”

The letter was signed by R. A. McCleary, of the Globe; W. J. Darby, the Mail and Empire; John Lang, the World; Wm. Elder, the Telegram; P. D. Beasler, the News, and Wm. Argue, the Star.

PRESIDENT HAS GIVEN WARNING AS TO TREASON

Washington, April 15.—Residents of the United States, both citizens and aliens, were warned today in a proclamation issued by President Wilson that the government will prosecute vigorously persons committing acts of treason either within this country or elsewhere. The president quoted constitutional and legal mandates against treason, including the authorized punishment by death or heavy fine and imprisonment, and cited court decisions to show that neglect to report information on treasonable acts or attempts to shield persons accused, also constitutes guilt.

Compliment Shows Blockade of East Coast Is Begun.

SUBMARINE BASE IS BELIEVED NEAR

Washington, D. C., April 17.—A German submarine today fired on the destroyer Smith about one hundred miles south of New York.

The presence of enemy submarines in American waters indicates that the threatened German submarine blockade of American Atlantic ports has begun.

This announcement was made at the navy department:

“Reported from Fire Island light ship to the naval stations at Boston and New York at 3:30 a. m. on the 17th, an enemy submarine was sighted by the United States ship Smith, running apparently submerged. Submarine fired a torpedo at the United States ship Smith which missed her by thirty yards. The wake of the torpedo was plainly seen crossing the bow. Submarine disappeared.”

Boston Picked Up Radio Message. Smith's encounter had been substantiated by official investigation.

First information of the encounter came to the navy department in a round about way from the Boston navy yard which picked up the Smith's report saying she had been fired upon by a German U-boat.

The navy department after communicating with Fire Island, Boston, New York and some other points on the Atlantic coast announced that the report of the

SEVEN BILLION BOND BILL IS ON PASSAGE

Washington, April 17.—Consideration of the $7,000,000,000 war finance bill was begun today in the senate.

Senator Stone, opponent of most of the administration war measures, announced that he would vote for its passage but thought it should have been framed along different lines and reserved the right to state his views later.

“This is a war measure, however, and I accept the judgment of the committee,” said Senator Stone.

Senator Simmons predicted that after the present issue another issue probably would be necessary, possibly at a higher interest rate. For this reason he said, it was desirable to give subscribers to the present issue the conversion rights to exchange their bonds for those having higher rate.

Senator Simmons said it would be “long, weary months before we can render much assistance in the field. This bill represents all we can do now.”

He said, “all they are asking us to do. In the name of America, of patriotism of liberty and democracy, let us do it now—without cringing or hesitation in the spirit of men inspired by the cause for which we are fighting. Let us give to the German Kaiser and his people and to all their innumerable who are obsessed with wealth and that the cancer of riches has taken possession of the American people, this answer.”

“The conversion privilege has been found absolutely necessary by all the European governments. Probably we will have to pay more for money within a very short time.

Senator Penrose, senior republican of the committee, also said the conversion privilege was necessary.

ALLY ENVOYS HAVE NOT YET LANDED HERE

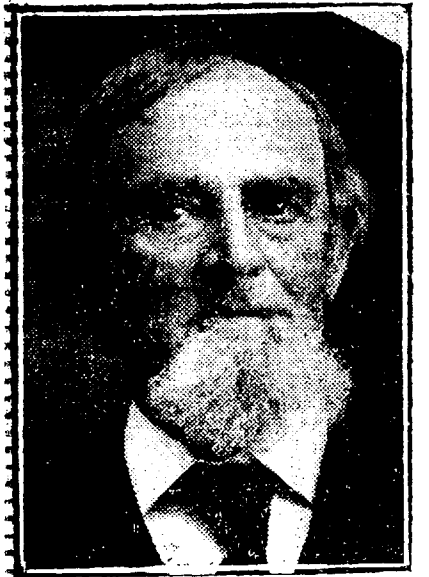

Washington, D. C., April 17.—Plans for receiving the British and French war commissions went forward today surrounded by the curtain of official secrecy which has been deemed necessary until the commissioners are in the capital. Official announcement was made at the state department that “so far as the department's information was concerned the British commission headed by Foreign Secretary Balfour had not arrived in this country and reports to the contrary were utterly false and made from whole cloth. Added to this announcement it was stated after the commissioners arrive and the conference begins, no part of the discussion will be made public.”

Secretaries Lansing, Baker and Daniels and George Cress, who comprise the government's new publicity bureau conferred again today on plans of organization. While some progress was made it was said numerous details still were to be determined upon and it would be some days before the bureau was organized.

John Weber, aged 90 years, one of the best known horse dealers in northern Indiana, passed away Monday afternoon at his home, 226 West Main street, following an illness of several months.

SHRINE STREET PARADE WILL MARK CEREMONIAL

One Hundred Novices Will Make Pilgrimage Across Hot Sands.

An illustrious, spectacular and interesting street parade will mark the spring ceremonial of Mizpah temple, Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine next Friday. The parade will start at 6 o'clock. The crossing of the hot sands by one hundred pilgrims will take place in the afternoon. In the evening an entertainment has been planned.

The pageant, the only part which the public can witness, has been arranged by a committee composed of Byron Somers, R. B. Garmire and Arthur E. Smith. The famous Mizpah band will be in the line and will furnish the music. The Arabic patrol will also be seen.

One of the features of the parade, which spectators will look at with awe, will be Mildred, the camel. This wonderful animal, which was born in the jungles of nobody-knows-where, fifty miles from civilization, has become an educated animal. However, she cannot speak English and consequently she must have an interpreter. Cusma T. David will ride the animal which will be housed in a beautiful gilded cage. He will interpret all the cute animal's sayings.

The parade will start from the Scottish Rite cathedral and move south on Clinton to Breckenridge, to Calhoun, to Perry, to Harrison, to Wayne, to Irving, to Washington and back to the cathedral.

us. "She was designed for home waters. Her ammunition rooms were very hot and it is believed that an explosion in one of these rooms caused the ship to sink.

Blown in Two; Many Lost.

"According to my letter the explosion blew the cruiser in two almost in the forward portion, where Captain Kohler and more than 100 men were at the time, sinking immediately and without permitting anyone to escape. The after portion was twenty-four minutes afloat and many of those in this section of the ship saved their lives. Most of the survivors were picked up by another German ship, the Rio Negro, which made its way through the British blockade to Hamburg.

"On October 31 the Karlsruhe left us. We were to remain in a certain position off the Brazilian coast out of the usual sea tracks until she returned to us for coal. We sailed back and forth along a line sixty miles long for week after week and in all our waiting we saw but one vessel, a British man-of-war. We hoisted a British flag and the ship went on, apparently not noticing us."

After waiting for almost two months for the Karlsruhe to return, Captain Lubinus started for northern waters. He was almost completely out of supplies and water. Sailing mostly at night and keeping out of the way of ships in the South American trade, he finally made his way to this port, arriving on January 15, 1915.

Fate Long a Mystery.

For more than two years after entering here, Captain Lubinus said he could get no information of the Karlsruhe. Then a few weeks ago came the letter from one of the Karlsruhe's survivors.

The Karlsruhe was at Havana at the outbreak of the war. Prior to that she had been on duty in Mexican waters. After taking coal and provisions here on August 9, 1914, little definitely is known of the cruiser's actions. If the statement of Captain Lubinus is correct, the Karlsruhe sank seventeen ships between that date and her capture of the Fernao October 6. How many more she sent to the bottom between that time and her sinking on November 4 may not be known until after the end of the war. Against the statement of Captain Lubinus is a story told within the past two weeks by an American ship captain. This captain said he was in Hamburg in January, 1915, and saw the Karlsruhe there at that time.

Oise and Conde on the Aisne.

"The artillery fight which was continued today, leveled the positions and produced wide, deep craters rendering an obstinate defense no longer possible.

"The fighting no longer is against a line but over quite a deep and irregular fortified zone.

"The battle swayed backwards and forwards around our foremost positions, our object being, if the war material is lost, to spare the lives of our forces and to inflict heavy sanguinary losses and thus decisively weaken the enemy. This was achieved."

GREAT FRENCH OFFENSIVE.

Paris, April 17.—The great offensive opened by the French along a 25-mile front of Soissons to Rheims, is likely to extend still further tomorrow or the day after.

The tremendous assault on the German lines had long been carefully planned, and for a month past French artillery had been pounding the enemy's position.

The Germans were well aware of what was coming as they showed by a number of furious attacks made, notably at Sapienau and Godat farm, with the object of finding out something definite in regard to the French preparation. The invaders had manned artillery in formidable positions with effectives amounting to at least twenty divisions and an enormous number of guns, well supplied with munitions.

In Irresistible Wave.

The battle opened on the left of the line, where, shortly after 8 o'clock in the morning the French infantry swept forward in an irresistible wave. In spite of a stiff resistance the Germans were driven back and inside half man prisoners began streaming toward the French rear by hundreds. The struggle was hottest east of Loivre, as well as in the whole sector of Berry-au-Bac and to the east of gain. The French heavy shells were too much for the Germans and before noon the whole first line was won.

On the right the action began a little later in the morning. The French met with a very determined resistance and the fighting was terrible. After several hours of heroic struggle the French infantry, thanks to the support of several hundred heavy quick firing guns, forced their way into the enemy's first line. It was a fine success, as the terrain was most difficult and the positions formidable.

Violent Counter Attacks.

In the afternoon the Germans counter attacked with extreme violence. The majority of their reserves were engaged south and east of the Brimont ridge. It is from the Brimont fort, built on a crest which dominates all the plain around, that the Germans have bombarded the city of Rheims. The French troops are now very close to this ridge, which is likely to play a prominent part in the coming fighting. In capturing Louvre they have drawn nearer to Bernier court and have gone far beyond the famous position which they lost in the first weeks of the war, and failed to win back at the battle of the Marne.

According to the latest news reaching Paris, the Germans are bombarding the lost trenches furiously, counter-attack after counter-attack having been delivered far into the night. The struggle is particularly fierce in the region of Craonne, but the French have so far managed to hold their gains. The French advance averages in depth from two to two and a half miles beyond the German first positions.

BRITISH ADVANCE AGAIN.

London, April 17.—The British made a further advance in the neighborhood of Epehy last night, according to an official statement issued by the war office. Rain storms are hampering operations.

GERMAN COUNTER ATTACKS.

Paris, April 17.—German counter attacks in force in the French sector of the front were repulsed last night by the French according to an official statement issued by the French war office. Heavy losses were inflicted on the Germans.

CLAIM 10,000 PRISONERS.

Paris, April 17.—The French began an attack yesterday after several days' artillery preparation between Soissons and Rheims. Several German lines were carried and more than 10,000 Germans were taken prisoner.

The official announcement of this success, issued by the war office, describes the fighting as being of the utmost violence.

The attack was on a front of more than twenty-five miles, every inch of which was fortified to the limit of German military science and caution.

their greatest possible effectiveness. In a broad way, it may be judged, the French now have for their immediate objective the isolation of the present railway center of Laon, to turn the southern end of the Hindenburg line. The British already have pierced this line at the northern end. The joint operation apparently is aimed at the rolling up of the present German front in an effort to compel a retirement on a greater scale than any yet witnessed on the western front since the battle of the Marne.

Operations in other sectors of this front and in the other war areas are at present of secondary importance, though the French activities further west in the Champagne and in the Alsace-Lorraine district apparently will bear close watching for possible important developments.

In Mesopotamia the British have advanced further where the Turks to within little more than ten miles of Samarra, seventy miles northwest of Bagdad, where another battle apparently is impending. Little resistance has been made by the Turks in their retreat.

Recent successes that have been achieved in the Balkans, which has opened on the Aisne as "one of the greatest in the world's history." The French attempted to break through with very heavy losses, says the German statement, which declares that fighting continues in a few places where the German lines were penetrated and fresh attacks by the French are expected. The Germans report the capture of more than 2,100 prisoners.

Evidently the French scored many successes this morning in the region southwest of Laon. The German report indicating a new attack by General Nivelle's troops between the river Oise and Conde, on the Aisne, in this region, where fighting of a more or less open nature is in progress, and the Germans apparently are in retreat. The loss of guns is hinted at in the Berlin account.

Berlin also announces that this morning fighting developed on the eleven mile front between Prunay, a town and half a mile south of Rheims, westward to Amberive, the battle line being extended into the Champagne.

good condition. Spring weather is awaited eagerly for the planting of potatoes and other summer crops. The rest of the season has been one of ease and of deferring the calling to the colors of recent levies of recruits, who will start training May 15 instead of April 15.

Food Problems Severe.

Vienna and other large cities continue to struggle with food problems which are due very largely to the extremely poor conditions of transportation. The long war has caused a general depreciation of railroad tracks and rolling stock. Another factor in the food shortage in the cities is the shortsighted system of regulations, which has caused the planting in rural districts, while the thickly populated industrial sections are in want. Although food prices in Vienna are three times normal it is still possible to procure supplies in far off districts almost as cheaply and easily as in the city. The government regulations have been far from successful in many respects, although thus far they have served to keep in reserve supplies which ultimately will be available. In the meantime, however, the public is paying a terrific cost for this and Courcy were repulsed last night by the French according to an official statement issued by the French war office. Heavy losses were inflicted on the Germans.

U-BOAT ATTACKS U. S. DESTROYER NEAR OUR COAST

It was stated in German soon after the action of congress that no aggressive steps would be taken against the United States.

Practically no American officials believed this statement, however, and steps to meet aggressive actions were taken on the 10th. The probability of submarine attack on unprotected seaboard cities and towns, raids on shipping within sight of American shores and a submarine blockade of the principal Atlantic ports with the purpose of terrorizing shipping and people were expected.

Head of Prohibited Zone.

Last week word came to Washington in a round about way that Germany was about to declare a prohibited submarine zone about the harbors at Boston, New York, the Delaware capes, Chesapeake Bay, Charleston and Savannah. The word had been included all the important ports on the Atlantic seaboard. It was said then that an official warning to neutrals of the prohibited zone would be issued from Berlin. Some American officials were disinclined to credit the report, but the entire diplomatic corps here believed in it, and predicted that Germany would soon carry the submarine campaign to this side of the Atlantic, principally for the purpose of scaring neutral shipping away from American harbors and to raid the great squadrons of merchant ships which are moving food and supplies to America's allies in the European battle fronts. Some officials are inclined to believe that the lack of a declaration of a prohibited zone in American waters may be due to the crippled condition of communications with Germany since the United States entered the war. Without such a declaration they point out Germany will incur great claims of damages to neutrals and will carry on a new campaign without the color of legal authority, which she contends the declaration of a barred zone lends to it.

Would Escape Responsibility.

By declaring a prohibited zone around any of the American ports and limiting it to those waters, Germany would escape the necessity of declaring and maintaining a general blockade of the Atlantic coast line. When the task of the union navy during the civil war, in maintaining an effective blockade of the southern ports is recalled, the difficulties of a submarine blockade of that vast coast line may be estimated.

Suspect Bases on This Side.

By submarine war brought close to the doors of America the possibility that German U-boats may have bases on this side of the Atlantic is again revived. The raid of the U-53 and the two trips of the Deutschland demonstrated that it was possible for a German submarine to escape the British cordon in the North sea and make their way to America. Whether a submarine could make such a trip and return without having a supply base somewhere on this side of the Atlantic is gravely doubted.

Many officials have always been believed that the U-53 had a mother ship somewhere down on the horizon. The possibility that merchant submarines of the Deutschland type, now converted to carriers of fuel oil and supplies, might accompany flotillas of the war boats on their trans-Atlantic raids is recognized as being very present. The possibility of bases having been planted by the German raiders recently at large in the South Atlantic is one of the foremost problems. It even has been suspected that parts of submarines had been shipped to Mexico and been assembled there, but by many well informed officials that is doubted.

Mexico May Afford Shelter.

The possibility of a German submarine base in the gulf of Mexico, however, has long been recognized and many officials have been convinced that when the raiding began—as they were sure it would soon after declaration of war—the raiders would come from that quarter. There also have been many reports of secret German bases established on the rocky and inaccessible coasts of Maine and northern Canada, from which German U-boats could be supplied to raid the troops and supplies going from Canada to the continent. Inasmuch as there has been no evidence of the use of such base in more than two years of war it is considered unlikely that even if they exist they can now be brought into use in Germany's warfare against the United States. The navy has taken all the measures it now has at hand against the submarine menace and is taking more as they become available. Naval officers recognize the danger to submarine operations off American coasts, but are confident of the navy's ability to deal with them, so far as is possible at this time. Expert opinion is that some shipping is bound to be lost if the raiding is extensive, but that submarines operating 3,000 miles away from home have most of the disadvantages to contend with.

REMODELING EXPERT WILL SUPERVISE ALTERATION OF THIS HOUSE.

The above drawings are offered by Clarence R. Levy, remodeling expert, who is here this week from New York.

The lower drawing is of a brick house, which is very unattractive, located just west of Wildwood Park boulevard, on property recently purchased by the Monroe W. Fitch & Sons agency, known as "Crestholm" addition. The drawing above is the same structure after Mr. Levy has it remodeled, making it a most attractive home.

Following Mr. Levy's plans the home will be remodeled at a comparatively small cost. It goes to show what wonderful improvements can be made to old houses and it is earnestly hoped by local real estate men that Mr. Levy's visit to Fort Wayne will result in the attention and transformation of many old houses now in the city into modern, up-to-date and handsome residences.

38 Now it came to pass, as they went, that he entered into a certain village: and a certain woman named Martha received him into her house.

39 And she had a sister called Mary, which also sat at Jesus' feet, and heard his word.

40 But Martha was cumbered about much serving, and came to him, and said, Lord, dost thou not care that my sister hath left me to serve alone? bid her therefore that she help me.

41 And Jesus answered and said unto her, Martha, Martha, thou art careful and troubled about many things:

42 But one thing is needful; and Mary hath chosen that good part, which shall not be taken away from her.

Get Behind the Mayor Here.

Mayor William J. Hosey is putting his energy, enthusiasm and determination behind the "more food" campaign in a fashion that promises notable results. It is a labor in which all should share readily and to good effect; but, like all such movements, results come best from leadership and organization, and the mayor understands the value of both and is proceeding along those lines.

Mayor Hosey's patriotic zeal is beginning to stir the people of Fort Wayne in this work and it is a prediction that may be made without risk that this city will "do its bit" and much more. It is the duty of all to aid the government. There is no material service that can be given which will count for more than the work of producing food. That is something from which no one can be barred by circumstance or condition. The opportunity lies open to all. Mayor Hosey ought to have the hearty and hard-working support of everybody in his labor to bring all available soil in and about Fort Wayne under cultivation. That will help the government, it will strengthen the nation, it will add to the surety that the people will not suffer during the war for bare sustenance as the peoples of European countries have been compelled to suffer.

There are reasons which the war's end will not abate why the people of this country should devote themselves willingly and energetically to the production and conservation of foodstuffs. Those who apply themselves to these lessons now will later have occasion to be grateful to the leadership which is moving them forward to this great service of patriotism. All the people of Fort Wayne should give prompt and effective response to the mayor's call for the growing of foodstuffs. They will have not long to wait before they will appreciate the effort of the mayor and acknowledge that and every other influence that has wrought upon them to turn their hands to cultivation of the soil.

The people of Fort Wayne can produce a great volume of foodstuffs from soil that never has been made to yield—ground that is now lying idle and useless and will continue so to lie except response be made to the call of the nation for more food to meet the stresses that are already here and that will be increased many fold before the strain of war has passed from the land. After the war the people here and all over the country will understand of what value is the thing which by that time they shall have learned concerning their own resources and resourcefulness in labor and economy.

Lexington Day--Turn Out.

It will be on Thursday one hundred and forty-two years since the "embattled farmers" fired at Lexington the "shot heard round the world." It was April 19, 1775, that witnessed the beginning of the eight years of strife from which issued American independence and through which began the great and unending march of modern democracy. The anniversary finds America at war with a foreign foe. No better—certainly no more significant—time could have been chosen for a great patriotic demonstration. Fort Wayne has taken suitable note of that and on Thursday there will be an appropriate keeping of Lexington day. Paul Revere again will gallop his historic ride with his "midnight message"—a few hours late and in the garish light of day, to be sure—but he will ride, nevertheless, and let us hope at least that "the spark struck out by that steed in his flight" will kindle "the land into flame with its heat." Every good arrangement has been made that this demonstration shall be historically interesting and that it shall enlist the patriotic feeling and stir the national spirit of all the people of Fort Wayne and the country round about. As a spectacle it will be altogether worth seeing; as a purpose it will be much more worth while. The people of Fort Wayne will turn out en masse. The people of all northeastern Indiana are invited to join their neighbors of this city in making this anniversary of immortal Lexington everything it ought to be. It should be the occasion of a great revival of patriotic fervor. Take part in it—display the flags—wear the colors.

War it is, but there's good reason not to beat the plowshares back again into swords nor the pruning-hooks into spears. Then these better weapons of war there are not.

MAKING A CONSTITUTION

PREPARED BY

JOHN A. LAPP,

Director of the Indiana Bureau of Legislative Information.

(Copyright 1917 by John A. Lapp.)

Arbitrary governments often threw men into prison for alleged offenses and kept them there so that they might not be troublesome. Men were harassed by continual trials for this same offense and when thrown into prison were treated rigorously whether guilty or not.

Out of the long struggle for human liberty have come certain principles which are now a part of every man's conscience. One of these principles is that "every man shall be deemed innocent until he is proven guilty." Every right is therefore accorded to him to prove his innocence because "it is better that ten guilty men should escape than one innocent person should suffer."

Both federal and state constitutions provide therefore that no person shall be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law; that every person shall have the right to a speedy and fair trial; that no person shall be put in jeopardy twice for the same offense; that cruel and unusual punishment shall not be inflicted; that excessive fines shall not be imposed; and that every person shall have the right of habeas corpus—that is to have the right to be brought before the court to see if they are lawfully held.

The Indiana constitution goes further; they shall have the right to be heard in their own defense; that the penal code shall be founded on the principles of reformation and not of vindictive justice," thus setting up a standard for penal reform to which the state is admonished to adhere.

Of all the pernicious practices of the past, imprisonment for debt was perhaps the worst. Good men were thrown into prison where they could not earn money to pay their debts and because they could not pay they were kept there. Mere misfortune was more often the cause of imprisonment than criminal intent. The pitiable object of honest men in prison for no other cause than that they were unable to meet their debts caused good men to protest and finally, in many states, that protest became lodged in the people's conscience and was placed in their constitutions. A typical provision is this from Indiana's constitution, Sec. 22. The privilege of the debtor to enjoy the necessary comforts of life, shall be recognized by wholesome laws, exempting a reasonable amount of property from seizure or sale for the payment of any debt or liability hereafter contracted; and there shall be no imprisonment for debt, except in case of fraud.

The federal constitution contains no such guarantee and we have the condition of being protected against imprisonment for debt under state laws, but not against imprisonment for debt under federal laws. However, the spirit of the provision prevents and there is not likely to be any imprisonment for debt.

The federal constitution declares: No state may pass an ex post facto law—that is a law which provides for punishment for a crime committed before the law was enacted or increases the punishment or makes conviction easier in such cases. The federal constitution also prohibits the passage of such laws by congress. Indiana has the same provision but it is unnecessary because of the federal provision prohibiting the states from passing such laws.

Likewise the federal constitution prohibits the passage of laws by the states and by congress which impair the obligations of contracts. One exception is made in a few states and is quite generally proposed—namely, that any contract granting a franchise, privilege or immunity shall be subject to alteration, revocation or amendment at any time. By this provision the rights of the public are protected against the granting of perpetual franchises by corrupt city councils or others who hold power. Since the famous Dartmouth college opinion, written by John Marshall in 1800, a franchise has been held to be a contract which could not be taken away or impaired. The experience of many cities proves the necessity that any one securing a franchise does so with the understanding that it may be taken away.

Above all rights named by the constitution, the provision—that the legislature "shall not grant to any citizen or class of citizens privileges or immunities which upon the same terms shall not equally belong to all citizens," strikes the average person as being nearer to fair play and democracy than any single declaration. "Equal rights for all and special privileges to none" is another way of putting it.

One of the rights which the people of the United States and of each state have sought to preserve was their freedom from arbitrary military power. When our forefathers won independence and established this government, they kept in mind the dangers of military power which had been throughout history the principal menace to people's liberty. They recognized the necessity for an army and navy for common protection, but they recognized, also, that the army should be subject to the people in such a way as to prevent the overthrow of liberties by successful generals. The Declaration of Independence voiced the sentiment of the people on this subject. One of the principal causes for separation from England was declared to be that the king had "affected to render the military independent of and superior to the civil power," and that he had "kept among us in times of peace, standing armies without the consent of our legislature."

So great was the fear of standing armies that the constitution makers in 1787, when fixing the powers of congress, provided that congress should have power "to raise and support armies but no appropriation of money to that use shall be for a longer term than two years."

Thus the need to raise and support armies was recognized, but fearing lest the army should become too powerful, it was provided that its supplies would have to be voted every two years. Any attempt of an army to dominate, as in some other countries, would be met by the failure of the money chest. Indiana put in the bill of rights in its constitutions the provision

ODD, ISN'T IT?

NEW YORK—Four-year-old Baltimore girl was so energetic with spring feeling, she picked $20 worth of flowers in a hotel florist shop.

declaring that the military should always be kept strictly subordinate to the civil authorities.

One of the first amendments to the United States constitution, passed in 1791, declared that no soldiers should in time of peace be quartered in any person's house without consent of the owner. Indiana's constitution made a similar declaration. These provisions all tended to keep the military from any chance to dominate the citizens. But the people went still further in their attempt to safeguard themselves against military power. They gave authority to congress "to provide for organizing, arming and disciplining the militia and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States, reserving to the states respectively, the appointment of the officers and the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by congress."

Here, then, is a complete check to prevent a standing army from becoming a menace. Thus, no money available for the standing army unless the representatives of the people in congress see fit to vote it every two years, and the militia of the states, while under the regulation of the United States and subject to call from the United States, is commanded by men appointed by the different states, the officers being subject to appointment by the governor or other civil authorities in the different states.

HOW TO BE A CARTOONIST.

COMPLETE IN ONE LESSON.
First of all you have to be born a humbly. Then you start in like you read about cartoonists: "When a child he always had a pencil in his hand and was everlastingly sketching likenesses on any scrap of paper, his father's cuffs and collars or the wall-paper."

When in street cars always put moustaches and beards on the faces of the ads.
Now for ideas.
Memorize these: Little Benjamin steals jam; this is a good old one. Don't forget to label the jar "Jam" and always label the paint can "paint."

Father walking the floor at night in his bare feet with the infant is another good one. Don't forget to sprinkle a few ticks on the floor with dad all ready to step on 'em.
Then the cat on the fence. Remember to always picture a shoe, water pitcher or a bootjack being hurled through space in the feline's direction.

A fellow fishing. Always picture him pulling up an old bearded man. The city slicker chap selling the rube a gold brick.
After you get all these down pat, show 'em to your friends and they'll ask you if you did it "free handed" and you tell 'em modestly "Yep."

Then add: "It only took me ten minutes to make this one, and this one only took me five minutes," etc.

Now you're a full-fledged cartoonist. Don't let 'em tell you different.

POLICE COURT A JOKE SAY SCHOOL LASSIES

Two bright-eyed high school girls tripped into police court shortly after the bailiffs' gavel had dropped Monday morning. They hunted out a seat in the northwest corner of the room and shyly surveyed the throng of men folks who filled the basement room.

Judge Kerr did not know that the lassies represented a civics class which is taught by Russell Wright at the high school and that they were bent on preparing a thorough report on police court methods, so he called one of the girls to his desk. He feared that she might be shocked by the testimony some of the unwholesome men might offer, he told her. She shook her pretty curls vigorously. She explained in effect that high school girls missioned on obtaining reports for the senior class are too sophisticated to be bothered by such little things.

The girls remained throughout the court session and sometimes they smiled and wrote vigorously in their little notebooks when the men gave funny reasons for being intoxicated. The petite bearers of starched cuffs and neat spring hats gave their names as Esther Schind and Gladys Hadley. When asked what they thought of the city court they chirped in unison, "It is a joke."

GLAD TO LEARN OF IT.

April's changeable weather causes colds that lead to expensive doctor bills—bills that could be avoided if the cold were checked in time. C. Smith, 1421 12th St., Augusta, Ga., writes: "I got one 25c bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and my cough and cold is about well. I was glad to learn of a great medicine like that." Foley's Honey and Tar enjoys such a splendid reputation that it is often imitated. Of course, no substitute or imitation is as good as the genuine. Drier Drug Co.,—Advertisement.

BE PRETTY TURN! GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Now, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you decked your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advertisement.

Meriwether—Cook.

The nuptials of Miss Katharine E. Cook, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence P. Cook, to Mr. James M. Meriwether, only son of Mrs. James B. Meriwether, took place at near the noon hour on Tuesday, at the bride's home, 1010 West Wayne street. The marriage service of the Episcopal church, of which the bride is a communicant, was read by Rev. Edward W. Averill, and Rev. Dr. Wagnenhal, who is pastor for the entire family of the groom, delivered the prayer. The guests were members of the two immediate families only. The bride presented a beautiful appearance in her traveling costume of champagne wool poplin and rose georgette crepe blouse, with which she wore a corsage of white roses, lilies of the valley with a touch of pink blossoms in the center of the bouquet. The bridegroom wore a tuxedo. The bride was escorted by Mrs. T. E. Ellison, announced the entrance of the bride with her father into the living room, and the groom and officiating clergyman received her in front of a banking of ferns and small palms against the fireplace. Baskets of pink roses and snapdragons blossoms stood on the mantel, and tall white candles burned on either side. Following the marriage service as the bride and groom received the congratulations of the company the pianist played the Mendelssohn wedding march. A little later the wedding breakfast was served on individual trays, a lack of formality being a characteristic of this lovely wedding. The rooms were decorated simply with pink and white flowers and ferns. A number of relatives from out of town were present. They included Mrs. Walter and Mrs. Jack Smoral, of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse F. Patterson, of Logansport, Mrs. C. M. Dawson, of Toledo, Ohio, Mrs. Harold Wood, of New Albany. Later in the day the

WELL KNOWN YOUNG MAN AND HIS BIRDE

MR. JOHN ESSIG.

MRS. JOHN ESSIG.

Mr. and Mrs. John Essig are busy these days receiving the congratulations of their many friends upon their marriage, which took place in Kalamazoo, Mich., on April 9. Mrs. Essig, who was Miss Emma Olinger, of Frankfort Mich., had been in this city for several weeks with her sister, who is seriously ill, and because of the sister's condition it was decided to not postpone the wedding day selected, but to slip off to Michigan quietly and keep the marriage a secret until a change should come in the condition of the sick woman. But even in this case of carefully laid plans, the secret leaked out. To begin with the train bearing the bride and groom to Kalamazoo was late and Mr. Essig was compelled to request the assistance of a friend, who in this instance was Mr. Orrin

Stair, the well known theatrical manager and part owner of the Majestic theater, of which Mr. Essig is the genial and obliging manager. Mr. Stair had his own automobile awaiting the arrival of the train in Kalamazoo on which were Mr. Essig and Miss Olinger and arrangements were also made to have the clerk's office kept open later than usual in order that the necessary license could be secured. Mr. and Mrs. Essig returned the same evening to Fort Wayne and for the present will remain with relatives. Mr. Essig is secretary of the Fort Wayne baseball team and his popularity in that position has been his ability in the field of sports as well as in theatricals. Mrs. Essig had often visited in Fort Wayne and her local friends will now rapidly increase in number.

DIAMOND AND WEDDING RINGS

IN DIAMONDS as well as any other jewelry commodity, two factors are very important to take into consideration: a with the intending purchaser, namely:

- The real intrinsic quality of the article.
- The personnel of the concern, and its connections with direct supply as well as its operating expenses attached to the wares thus offered to the community.

So to be fundamentally right, when quality and the good name of the concern is unquestioned, real values in diamonds or any other jewelry commodity may be obtained only where there is a low cost of doing business, pro rata, and a wide experience coupled with financial resources to buy in large quantities and distribute it in as wide a territory as is consistent with sound business judgment.

The growth and popularity of this store is a permanent feature of the proper application of the above methods.

NO STOMACH PAIN, GAS, INDIGESTION IN FIVE MINUTES

"Pape's Diapepsin" is the best antacid and stomach regulator known.

"Really does" put upset stomachs in order—really does" overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn and sourness due to acid fermentation in five minutes—that just that—makes Pape's Diapepsin the largest selling stomach antacid and regulator in the world. If what you eat ferments and turns sour, you belch gas and eructate undigested food or water; head is dizzy and aches; breath foul; tongue coated; your insides filled with indigestible waste, remember the moment "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing—almost marvelous, and the joy is its harmlessness.

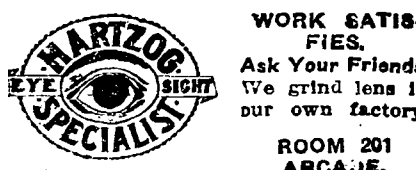

A large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin is worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or at night. It's the quickest, surest antacid for the stomach in the world.—Advertisement.

BOY SCOUTS TO BE TESTED IN MOBILIZING

Boy scouts of the city will be mobilized in the near future. This order comes from headquarters. The mobilization of this force of the city will, however, be only a test to ascertain the alertness of the members of the organization. The date of mobilization has not been definitely stated but it is understood that it will be in the near future. The plan is to have several factory whistles in the city blow the S. O. S. signal every fifteen seconds for two minutes. Without stopping to dress in the boy scout uniform every member of every troop is expected to mobilize. The mobilization point is the market square.

Members of the scout organization are expected to participate in the Lexington Day parade and are asked to report at 1:45 o'clock Thursday afternoon, on Jefferson street, west of Harrison.

Brotherhood men of the four train service organizations, you are hereby notified by order of a joint committee, to meet at Unity hall, Calhoun and Holman streets, Thursday, April 19, at 1 p.m., to take part in a patriotic demonstration—the Lexington memorial parade. Kindly assist in making this celebration a success. Shop men and others in the employ of the railroads are cordially invited to join us.

TO BE UNDER ORDERS SUNDAY

Unofficial Report is That Local Units of Militia Will Be Called.

CAPTAIN M'ADAMS AT INDIANAPOLIS

Company E in Need of 40 Men—Expecting a Big Day Thursday.

Company E, First Indiana Infantry, Battery D and Battery F will be under mobilization orders by Sunday is an unofficial report which is being noised about the recruiting station in the court house. Officers, who have been forbidden to reveal any orders, will not talk.

Capt. Ray McAdams, commanding officer of Company E, was at Indianapolis, Monday, and returned Tuesday morning. It is thought that he visited with the adjutant general while in that city. Arrangements may have been made at this time for the calling out of the three units of the national guard.

The local company of infantry is in need of forty more men, stated one of the men in charge of quarters Tuesday morning. They are anticipating an extraordinary big day Thursday before and after the great demonstration.

Recruiting has slowed up a great deal. Tuesday morning only six men made appointments to be accepted.

Plan Farewell Dance.

Soldiers of Company E have made arrangements to give a farewell dance at Tanner's academy on Monday evening, April 23, at which time the uniforms will be turned in to the adjutant general. Friends of the soldier boys have been invited. The committee on arrangements consists of John E. Miller, Jay Fish and F. L. Barnett.

Making Battleship.

Navy recruiting officers are busily engaged in making a model of a battleship for display as a float in the Lexington day parade. The war vessel, ten feet long, made of heavy canvas and pine lumber, is an extraordinary reproduction of the historic "Indiana."

Work on the battleship has been going on night and day in the basement of the postoffice since Monday morning. The dignified craft with her big guns trained for action, will be one of the most showy features of the patriotic march.

Both the army and navy will make an effort to impress the need of recruiting on the day when we commemorate the battle of Lexington.

Army Getting Colored Men.

Many colored men have flocked to the enlistment office to allow them to enlist in equal standing with white recruits. Eighty negroes were enrolled on Monday and three more were enlisted Tuesday.

On Monday 140 men were sent to the army. It is an unprecedented record for the local recruiting station. On Tuesday morning twenty-five were enlisted.

Signal Corps Meeting.

At a meeting of the young men who have signed for the signal corps of the militia, held in the hall room of the Anthony hotel Monday evening, Harry Hogan gave a fine address on "Patriotism." The meeting was in charge of Capt. Bert S. Hawkins, of Indianapolis, who will have charge of the company as soon as it is sent to the front.

Following the address of Mr. Hogan, Sgt. F. W. Kuhns, who has been promoting the signal corps work here, gave a talk telling a great deal of the actual work of this department. He was followed by Capt. Hawkins, who told of the militia branch to be taken up by the Fort Wayne company, that of the telephone and telegraph. Other numbers on the program consisted of several selections by a quartet and others by an orchestra.

Capt. Hawkins returned to Indianapolis Tuesday morning and took with him the petition for the militia which has been signed by eighty-five young men. Definite word is expected Wednesday and if it is favorable examinations will probably begin Thursday or Friday. Seventy-two are needed from Fort Wayne to fill the company but it is estimated that 25 per cent of those signed up will fail to pass the physical test.

ALL BRIDGES BEING COATED WITH WHITE

Another Precaution Being Taken to Lessen Number of Accidents.

Bridges, large ones and small ones alike, are being given two coats of white under the supervision of the county road superintendent. This measure is being taken in order to lessen the number of accidents in the summer time.

The work is being done by a gang of prisoners from the Allen county jail. Nearly all the bridges have been given one coat and another coat will be put on immediately. The number of iron bridges are getting a white coat all over while only the facings of iron bridges are being painted.

Last summer many accidents occurred where automobile drivers stated that they could not see the bridge and as a result bumped into it. The county superintendent states that after the bridges have been painted white that they can be seen a half mile away.

SHERIFF TO START A BIG BROTHER MOVEMENT

Youths Who Are Arrested on Minor Charges Will Be Put on Farms.

Sheriff George W. Gillie has started a big brother movement which he believes will be a benefit to all youth who are arrested on minor charges. He expects to place all young men who come under his jurisdiction somewhere on a farm in Allen county and make them report to him once a week. In doing this he believes that he will not only make better citizens out of the boys but will help to quell the distressing cry from the farmers for help.

This movement was inaugurated Tuesday morning. The sheriff received a call from some prominent people in the city Monday morning that a deserter from the United States army had coaxed another young man away and that both of them had gone to Lagrange. The Lagrange officials were notified and they placed both of the young men under arrest.

Clarence R. Luce, the alleged deserter from the United States regulars, is being held until an investigation can be made. The other young man whose name would not be revealed, will be placed on a farm where he will work the entire summer.

COURT HOUSE CLOSING.

Every office in the Allen county court house will close at noon Thursday, giving all employees an opportunity to march or witness the parade. However, it is stated that the treasurer's office may open after the parade to allow those people who wish to pay their taxes to do so.

Ask for $115 Damages.

Nathan Judenfreund has sued Albert P. Skeer for $115 damages for alleged breach of contract. Colerick & Hogan are his attorneys.

To Quiet Title.

Charles W. Snyder has begun action against Susan Wycliff et al., to quiet title to some real estate. Somers and Kenner are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Judgment Given.

The plaintiff in the case of William E. Meyers versus Frances Gladieux, et al., was given a judgment of $137.75 in superior court.

Marriage Licenses.

Rex Austin Morton, electrician, to Alice G. Carey.

James M. Meriwether, electrical engineer, to Katherine E. Cook.

BIG PLANS ARE MADE TO BRING FOOD CONTROL

Washington, April 17.—Legislation to impose the national food control act to supervise distribution of food, and, if necessary, fix maximum and minimum prices, was being framed today as one of the results of yesterday's conference between the great Chicago meat packers and Secretary of Agriculture, headed by J. Ogden Armour, a delegation of the foremost packers, including Edwin Morris, E. A. Cudahy, Thomas E. Wilson and L. F. Swift, assured Secretary Houston of their utmost co-operation and voluntarily proposed that the government should take the lead in supervising the national food control.

The licensing of food distributing agencies so the government may trace any movements of middlemen or others to monopolize supply or force raises in price is one of the features of the department's proposed act. As their own "bit" in defending the nation the packers offered a plan to distribute their products at a minimum of profit to themselves and one of them estimated the saving to the public would approximate at least $100,000,000 a year.

INCENDIARIES ARE BUSY AT BLUFFTON

Painter Storage House and Elevator at Bluffton Are Set on Fire.

(Special to The Sentinel.) Bluffton, Ind., April 17.—The Painter storage house and the Arnold elevator were damaged by fire believed to have been of incendiary origin, last night. The fire was first discovered in the John H. Painter storage house, which was damaged to the extent of $6,000 before it could be extinguished. Howard Green and Howard Shelley, who were returning to their homes from the Painter fire, discovered the blaze in the Arnold elevator. An alarm was immediately given by them and the fire was extinguished before any great damage was done.

One hundred pounds of sugar was in the Painter warehouse, most of which, however, was saved. There were large quantities of other food-stuffs in the building.

Death of Dr. Morris.

Dr. Thomas Morris, sixty-eight years old, died this morning after an extended illness at his home in Mount Zion. Seven weeks ago he was operated upon in an effort to save his life. He is survived by the widow and two sons, Oscar Morris, of Mount Zion, and Dr. George Morris, of Petroleum.

WILL MARCH 16 ABREAST

Twenty Bands Will Furnish Music for Lexington Day Parade.

PAUL REVERE WILL AROUSE THE PEOPLE

Special Cars Will Bring Throng to Patriots' Day Celebration.

Sixteen abreast will march the marshalled host of the citizen army in the Lexington day parade, next Thursday afternoon. Twenty bands will furnish the martial strains which will put added life into every step of the marchers.

Special interurban cars will bring crowds of people from all surrounding towns to the great patriotic celebration. Butler has pledged to send 500 citizens to the demonstration. Monroeville is expected to furnish as many more.

All street car traffic on South Calhoun street will be closed during the time set for the parade. No traffic of any kind will be allowed on the thoroughfare from 1:30 until 3 o'clock.

Once more will the call of Paul Revere arouse a peaceful people. He will ride his steed in a mad pace along South Calhoun street Thursday, shortly after noon and just before the gaudy Lexington day parade starts from the Pennsylvania passenger station. Above the ringing sound of his horse's hoofs on the paved streets the modern Revere will shout the war warning of 1917.

When the horseman, who will be Frank Martin, manager of the Fort Wayne Transfer company, has clattered past, there will come the steel throated call from the large Pennsylvania fire whistle. This will be the signal to start in motion the greatest parade ever formed in Fort Wayne. Out upon Calhoun street, down past the county court house where snow heads of civil war veterans will nod their approval, from a large platform, and west on Main street to the interurban station, will tramp the host of citizens.

Dr. Frank Jaymes and Mayor Hoesy will address the assembled throng as part of the flag raising ceremony. They will impress the need of service to the country in this moment when our free principles are being impaired by imperialism.

A Novel Feature.

A pretty and novel feature in the parade Thursday will be the presence in the line of over 400 women from the offices and the factory of the General Electric works. A canvass of the office and shops today disclosed the fact that the women are as enthusiastic in their patriotism as the men, and are willing to turn out in the parade. Nearly every woman approached on the matter readily agreed to take part in the parade. The details of arrangement in the procession have not been worked out in full.

Mayor Hoesy and Harry Miller attended a mass meeting at Monroeville Monday night and extended an invitation to all citizens of that town to be present.

Dr. D. E. Kaufman, who presided at the meeting, appointed the following committee to arrange the attendance of Monroeville people at the Fort Wayne patriotic celebration: W. E. Irwin, Seth Painter, Arthur Stairman, Dr. Steinman, Dr. Nentzer, Dr. Meyer, H. C. Crabb, A. S. Robinson, Dr. Smith, Charles Krick, O. W. Van Burskirk, T. J. Shubert, J. D. Alleger, Reverends Ziemer, Zartman, Ziecher and Feldon, John Jackson, W. O. Swancy, C. E. Spake, Prof. John DeLong, Prof. F. D. Wade, Prof. B. F. Cline, Alfred Linenberger, Joseph Miller, Henry Marquardt, Sam Raw, Misses Elsie Hoopingarner, Ethel McMillen, Flora Peters, Mabel Webster and Helen Jaymes.

ONE TICKET TOO MANY IS CHARGE

Meat and Dairy Inspector Dr. Paul Kucher has filed charges against the Rudisill Dairy company because he claims to have discovered a milk ticket in the bottom of one of the filled milk bottles when making an examination of the company's product a few days ago. Dr. Kucher says he is told that the ticket was left in the bottle by mistake. The case will be in police court.

C. P. Josse, deputy meat and milk inspector, has filed suits against O. A. King, 3021 Broadway; E. B. Lohman, 1214 Delaware avenue; F. L. Bontrager, 1001 Hurmar street; James C. Adair, 2606 Gay street, and Vasil Bros., 1813 John street, charging that they have sold meat without a license.

WOMEN HEED CALL TO COLORS—WILL NURSE SAILORS.

American nurses are not afraid of the front and scores are being enlisted for service at both navy and army recruiting stations. The above photograph by W. H. Durborough, The Sentinel's staff photographer, is of Miss Avis Rowe and Miss Martha E. Hlavacek of the Washington boulevard hospital, Chicago, being enlisted by Coxswain J. W. Juracka at one of the Chicago naval recruiting stations. Misses Rowe and Hlavacek probably will be stationed at one of the naval hospitals on the east coast.

REPUBLICANS PASS UP PLAN

Reject Scheme for Having Bi-Partisan Choice of Delegates.

PROPOSAL WILL NOT WORK WELL

Some Other Plan Must Be Found to Get Constitution Delegates.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 17.—The republicans of Indiana will not participate in a non-partisan plan for the election of the fifteen delegates-at-large to the state convention to be held next year, if the report of a committee consisting of the thirteen republican district chairmen and one additional republican from each district is adopted at the larger meeting of republicans late today.

The report reads in part:

"We find the sentiment among republicans very much in favor of endeavoring to induce the very strongest men in the state to become candidates for delegates.

Sentiment is Divided.

"We find the sentiment very much divided as to the means of accomplishing this end. It is our opinion that the methods suggested will not prove a practical plan for bringing about the result desired. Further, it is our opinion that no practical method can be devised to bring about the desired result, and, therefore, all the republican party should not, as such, participate in such arrangements."

The report then calls attention to rumors that "there are active forces of various kinds moving in the state to control, directly or indirectly, the deliberations of the convention and we recommend to the people the closest scrutiny of all such procedure to the end that nothing be allowed to be done and that no default be permitted which will result in the successful consummation of such ends."

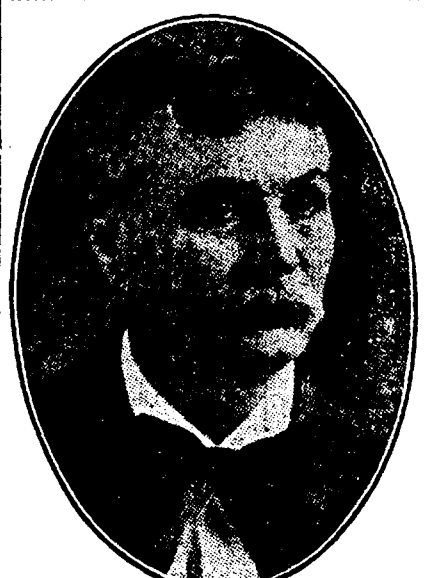

Admits Good Faith.

The committee says it recognizes the good faith of the suggestion for joint action of the two political parties and concludes its report:

"We urge that all citizens not as partisans but as patriots, go out at once and use every influence which they can command to induce the candidacy of the very best possible men regardless of their political affiliations, and that such a number of such be induced to become candidates that there can be no doubt of the final selection of men who are fit and qualified."

It was generally believed before the afternoon meeting was called to order that the report of the committee would be adopted.

"Farmer Poet" Dies at Home in Howe

SILAS B. McMANUS.

Silas B. McManus, 70 years old, who died suddenly at Howe, Ind., Sunday, as a result of a stroke of apoplexy, was a writer of no little note and had contributed for all the leading publications in the country. In late years he had devoted his entire time to writing and lecturing and had traveled extensively.

The deceased was familiarly known as the "Farmer Poet." "Papa, What Would You Take for Me?" was one of his most popular poems. He was a personal friend of the late James Whitcomb Riley.

Mr. McManus some years ago resided in Fort Wayne and was connected for a time with both the Gazette and The Sentinel.

PARK BOARD OFFICE

FOOD DRIVE CENTER

The park board office, on the third floor of the city hall, is to be the headquarters for the great food campaign to be waged by Fort Wayne during the summer. Applications for plots of ground to be cultivated and for seeds should be made at that office.

Meeting of the committee appointed by Mayor Hoesy to conduct the "plant a lot" movement will meet in the park board office Tuesday evening and determine definitely on methods of accumulating use of all possible garden space and allotting the same. The committee is made up of Frank H. Hilgemann, chairman, Ake Ackerman, W. F. Grater, Miss Norma Erf, head of the city school garden work; Miss Flora Wilber, principal of the Lakeside normal, and County Agent A. J. Hutchins.

PROPOSAL WILL NOT WORK WELL

Some Other Plan Must Be Found to Get Constitution Delegates.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 17.—The republicans of Indiana will not participate in a non-partisan plan for the election of the fifteen delegates-at-large to the state convention to be held next year, if the report of a committee consisting of the thirteen republican district chairmen and one additional republican from each district is adopted at the larger meeting of republicans late today.

The report reads in part:

"We find the sentiment among republicans very much in favor of endeavoring to induce the very strongest men in the state to become candidates for delegates.

Sentiment is Divided.

"We find the sentiment very much divided as to the means of accomplishing this end. It is our opinion that the methods suggested will not prove a practical plan for bringing about the result desired. Further, it is our opinion that no practical method can be devised to bring about the desired result, and, therefore, all the republican party should not, as such, participate in such arrangements."

The report then calls attention to rumors that "there are active forces of various kinds moving in the state to control, directly or indirectly, the deliberations of the convention and we recommend to the people the closest scrutiny of all such procedure to the end that nothing be allowed to be done and that no default be permitted which will result in the successful consummation of such ends."

Admits Good Faith.

The committee says it recognizes the good faith of the suggestion for joint action of the two political parties and concludes its report:

"We urge that all citizens not as partisans but as patriots, go out at once and use every influence which they can command to induce the candidacy of the very best possible men regardless of their political affiliations, and that such a number of such be induced to become candidates that there can be no doubt of the final selection of men who are fit and qualified."

It was generally believed before the afternoon meeting was called to order that the report of the committee would be adopted.

ONE TICKET TOO MANY IS CHARGE

Meat and Dairy Inspector Dr. Paul Kucher has filed charges against the Rudisill Dairy company because he claims to have discovered a milk ticket in the bottom of one of the filled milk bottles when making an examination of the company's product a few days ago. Dr. Kucher says he is told that the ticket was left in the bottle by mistake. The case will be in police court.

C. P. Josse, deputy meat and milk inspector, has filed suits against O. A. King, 3021 Broadway; E. B. Lohman, 1214 Delaware avenue; F. L. Bontrager, 1001 Hurmar street; James C. Adair, 2606 Gay street, and Vasil Bros., 1813 John street, charging that they have sold meat without a license.

WOMEN HEED CALL TO COLORS—WILL NURSE SAILORS.

American nurses are not afraid of the front and scores are being enlisted for service at both navy and army recruiting stations. The above photograph by W. H. Durborough, The Sentinel's staff photographer, is of Miss Avis Rowe and Miss Martha E. Hlavacek of the Washington boulevard hospital, Chicago, being enlisted by Coxswain J. W. Juracka at one of the Chicago naval recruiting stations. Misses Rowe and Hlavacek probably will be stationed at one of the naval hospitals on the east coast.

HOW FAT FOLKS MAY BECOME SLIM

BE MODERATE IN YOUR DIET.
BREATHE DEEPLY. TRY OIL OF KOREIN.

Fat persons, particularly those from ten to sixty pounds above normal weight, will be interested to learn that they may easily reduce their weight without starvation diet or tiresome exercise.

If you are overweight, you are daily drawing on your reserve strength and are constantly lowering your vitality by carrying this excess burden. Don't jeopardize your health or be a laughing stock any longer.

Spend as much time as you can in the open air, practice deep breathing and get from any good druggist a box of oil of korein capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night. Also follow the simple directions that come with the box.

Surprising reports of weight reduction come in—even after just a few days' treatment. With proper reduction the flesh becomes firm, the skin smooth and the general health improved; in fact, work seems easier and a lighter, more buoyant feeling takes possession of the whole being. It is a fine sensation—that of looking and feeling young, supple, cheerful, active, alert and content.

Oil of korein is absolutely harmless and is pleasant to take.

If you want to reduce ten to sixty pounds you should give this treatment a trial. You will probably find it is just what you need. Start on the road to longer life and happiness today.—Advertisement.

DIX IS WAR MANAGER OF CITY LIGHT PLANT

Will Act in Wessel's Place
Till "Johnnie Comes Marching Home."

Frank Dix, in the position of secretary, manager and chief electrician, will pilot the city lighting plant through the perils of the world war while John Wessel, jr., is away to the front in active service. Appointment of Dix to take the position of Wessel during the war was made by members of the board of works, the mayor and city controller, Monday evening.

Dix will take active charge on next Monday, when Wessel leaves for training camp. The plan laid out by Dix and endorsed by city officials is to keep Wessel's position open for him until his return.

The acting manager will have little difficulty in applying himself to his new position as he has been an active force in the advancement of the city lighting department since its organization in 1908. He is thoroughly familiar with every part of the lighting system.

The $20,000 advertising plan of the lighting department will be carried on as has been arranged. Plans for the campaign have already been pretty thoroughly worked out.

Suits on display in our window at Harrison Street Entrance at $9.75.

TRACTION LINES WILL PREPARE FOR DEFENSE

Receive Bulletin from American Electric Association.

General Manager S. W. Greenland, of the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company, has received a bulletin which has been sent to all companies in the American Electric Railway association by the committee on national defense of the association. The bulletin deals with the protection of lines in war times.

One piece of advice given in the bulletin is the consideration of the employment of women as conductors, "motormen" and in other capacities, if a lack of men makes it necessary. The protection of all points in the lines is also advised and special stress is laid upon the necessity of this at tunnels, bridges and dispatol stations. It is considered wise to enclose power houses and shops in high walls and to give each employe a badge so that people with no business inside the walls will be kept out. Explosions and incendiary fires in this country have given rise to the suggestion of these precautions.

According to the bulletin, all of the suggestions have been made only after a complete study of conditions in this country and in Europe, and it is considered wise that they be taken, just what will be done along these lines here has not yet been decided.

Extraordinary values in men's and young men's suits at $15.00.

REPUBLICAN SENATORS TO UPHOLD WAR

Washington, April 17.—Republican senators in conference today decided generally to stand behind the president in war legislation so far suggested to congress, but made no effort to bind senators to approve selective conscription or to accept the administration revenue proposals in the exact form advocated by the executive department. There was a distinct feeling that there should be no general legislation at the present session and that congress should get away before mid-summer.

The executive board of the Retail Merchants' association has decided to ask all the members of the association to close their places of business from 2 o'clock p. m. to 4 o'clock p. m. on Thursday, the 19th, on account of Lexington celebration.

WOLF & DESSAUER EMPLOYEES FROLIC

Firm's Anniversary Celebrated by 500 Women and Men at Party.

All the five hundred employees of the big store of Wolf & Dessauer and their families and the two members of the firm and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wolf and Mr. and Mrs. Myron E. Dessauer, gathered in Moose hall on Monday evening to celebrate the twenty-first anniversary of the founding of the store. The New Efficiency club of the store, which embraces all of the employees, made the plans for the evening and carried them out, but Messrs. Wolf and Dessauer were the hosts. It was one great laugh and jollity from the beginning to the last footstep from the hall about 1 o'clock in the morning. The hall was handsomely decorated with flags and bunting and when at the opening of the program for the evening the tableau of the Goddess of Liberty attended by several Boy Scouts and army and navy representatives was shown, Franklin's orchestra played "The Star-Spangled Banner" and the big crowd rose and sang in a manner to have raised the roof on a building less new and strong than the Moose handsome quarters. As the strains of the song died away conversation began, but with frequent interruptions, as dancing was in order and the young people tried the old-fashioned quadrilles and the older people essayed to do the most modern fox trot.

First, W. H. Rohan presented Messrs. Wolf and Dessauer with a basket of flowers that was quite out of the ordinary in beauty. Then music and specialties distracted the attention of those who wanted to dance all of the time. The specialties were between numbers and much hitherto unexpected talent came to light all the way from cashboys to the highest salaried men and women. Besides there was something to eat and drink all of the time, something like sixteen thousand sandwiches, a cartful of ice cream, a hundred thousand pickles and numerous clothesholders full of coffee. At least that is the report.

At any rate it all went to demonstrate that the Wolf & Dessauer force can play as well as they can work. Everybody laughed until his sides ached and all voted the annual ball, for the event is to come off every year, a huge success.

BONDS AT PAIR.
The bulk of $125,000 worth of City Coliseum bonds were sold to the J. E. Witt and Company, of Indianapolis, Monday evening. The bonds were disposed of at par. Other bidder on the bonds was the Fletcher-American company, also of Indianapolis. They bid 97 per cent with interest.

The meeting in which the bonds were sold was held in the office of the city controller and was attended by the auditorium committee of the city council, City Attorney Colerick, Controller Bunde and representatives of the competing bonding firms. The war situation is believed to have lessened the interest of other financial institutions which had expressed a desire to possess the city coliseum bonds.

All groceries will close Thursday, April 19, at noon in honor of the battle of Lexington celebration and our nation's flag. By order FORT WAYNE RETAIL GROCERS' ASSOCIATION.

ASK FOR $100,000 BOND ISSUE.
The Fort Wayne & Decatur Traction company has filed a petition with the public service commission asking authority to issue and sell first mortgage bonds to the amount of $100,000. The money is to be used for improvements, including two power substations, one just outside the city and the other ten miles out, transmission lines, new cars, ballasting the track, purchasing a site for a new terminal at Decatur and to erect a building on it.

O. R. C. AUXILIARY HOLDING SCHOOL

Grand Officers Here to Instruct Members in Ritualistic Work.

An event of unusual importance in auxiliary circles in Fort Wayne is the "school of instructions" of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Order of Railway Conductors, which commenced today and will continue tomorrow at Unity hall. Delegates from the Toledo, Toledo and the Lima auxiliaries are participating with Kekionga division, No. 51, in the exercises and there are a number of visiting auxiliary ladies from Huntington and Garrett. Grand officers present to conduct the school are Mrs. J. H. Moore of Toledo, grand president of the auxiliary, and Mrs. M. E. Sewell, vice grand president. Mrs. Moore arrived yesterday and stopped at the Anthony, where she met a number of the members of the auxiliary, and Mrs. Sewell came down from Chicago this morning and went immediately to the hall.

The first feature of the event was an informal opening and reception at the hall, which was the nature of a "get acquainted" gathering, at 9 o'clock this morning. After luncheon, the business for which the gathering was called began, the grand officer commencing without any waste of time instructing the classes in the work of the order. This evening at 8:30 o'clock the members of the O. R. BIG FLAG BADLY DAMAGED.

Nickel Plate Yard Men Hoist Smaller Ones.

The proposition to erect a big flag and fling to the breeze the massive A. W. Ryan flag which was dedicated by the Nickel Plate employees with most impressive ceremonies nineteen years ago, when the Spanish-American war was in progress, had to be abandoned because of the condition of the big banner. It had been in a check at the house of General James A. Nicholson since it was relieved from duty on the pole at the yards many years ago, and it was believed to be all right. But an investigation revealed the fact that the fabric was weakened by age and would not stand the strain unflinching would put upon it. Instead of the one massive flag, the smaller ones are to be used. (The already hoisted over the company offices and depot, a pole for another has been erected at the side of General Foreman M. J. Melbrum, near the roundhouse, and a flag will be put upon it as soon as it arrives from Chicago. The third pole will be located at the corner of the office of General Yardmaster Charles E. Lyons. The flag for which has also been ordered. It is not proposed to have much ceremony at either of these poles when the flags are unfurled because of the danger to people where crowds assemble on the tracks.

BROTHERHOOD MEN TO PUT OUT FLAG.

Arrangements have been completed for unfurling an immense flag over Calhoun street, in front of Unity hall, which will represent the four brotherhoods which hold their meetings in that building. The plan of unfurling the flag is to have everything ready, and as the four brotherhoods, which will participate in the big parade Thursday pass that point, the flag will be unfurled. At the same time the band will play "America." The brotherhood men are requested to meet at Unity hall at 1 o'clock, ready for the parade. Each of the four brotherhood will be represented in the procession.

CAN RETURN TO SHOP AT CLOSE OF WAR

S. F. Bowser & Co. Will Re-instate Returning Soldiers in Factory.

"Every employee of this company who enlists in the army or navy and remains until he is honorably discharged will be immediately reinstated in the shop upon his return to the city," said S. F. Bowser, president of S. F. Bowser & Company, in an address at a flag dedication at the big old tank vania machine shop this morning.

Mr. Bowser also told his hearers that the company was going to establish a "roll of honor" and hang it in a conspicuous place in the company's office. This "roll of honor" would include the names of every employee who enrolls in the service of the government, the date of enlistment and the department in which he serves during the war with Germany. Twelve young fellows, employees of the company, have already gone to the war in various capacities and many more will be taking leave to the call.

A number are members of Company E, which is liable to call at any moment.

The dedication of the pole and flag purchased with contributions of the employees at the factory was a patriotic and impressive event. One of the big auto trucks of the company was driven up to the building, immediately beneath the flagstaff, draped in national colors and used as a speakers' stand.

It was from this stand that S. F. Bowser made his liberal offer and pledged himself, the S. F. Bowser company and the employees to the support of the United States to the best of their ability.

The whistle sounded a few minutes after 3 o'clock and immediately the officers, foremen and employees filed out of the several exits, each department in its own way. The employees, bearing and marching down past the speakers' stand on Bowser avenue, counter-marching wherever necessary and grouping on the sidewalks and streets, forming a mass of humanity which covered a space of over a square.

The office force, which included many women, presented a most pretty scene, many of the women carrying small flags.

After the speaking the flag was hoisted to its position on the staff and as it responded to the pull which released its folds, allowing it to spring in the breeze, amidst the cheering of about 2,000 people and the noise of the Bowser drum corps, this scene was indeed inspiring.

After telling the employees that the meeting had been called for the purpose of impressing upon the minds and hearts of his employees the meaning of the war situation, Mr. Bowser said in part:

"My friends, we are confronting a climax in the country's history. I am speaking to you now to ask that you practice economy in every form. Nothing is to be wasted. We must save every dollar we can so the United States of America will be able to win this war successfully so that our families will be saved from want. Plant gardens in your back yards. Save your money. Individually this will help you and you will aid in the conservation of national resources.

"Don't think that the only thing we Americans have to do is fight. It isn't. We have to care for the home in plenty. We have to keep in such a condition as to permit of our standing behind the front.

"What does this flag-raising mean?"

"It means that we are now in a position to win this war."

"It means that we are now in a position to win this war."

GRAIN PRICES STAGE SENSATIONAL ADVANCE

Simultaneous Rise in Cereals, Hay and Flour Shatters Records.

Wheat, corn, oats, rye, barley, flour and hay were the principals in an advance of prices here Tuesday which makes all past rises look small. Prices went up at a rate hardly known here before, and are now higher than at any time in the history of the country. Some weeks ago wheat outstripped the much talked of civil war record, but now oats have reached a price unheard of before, and corn has broken all records.

Wheat opened Tuesday morning at $2.48 (2 1/2 c) an advance of 1 1/2 c since the close Monday, and flour was increased accordingly. Corn, which was sold previously at $1.48 1/2, brought from $1.60 to $1.67. Oats made an increase of 30 c and the new top price is 95 c. Market men never believed that this would be possible. Rye and barley both advanced 10 c.

Business at the city scales continued to be light, but what there was of it was just as interesting as any other department of the market. Five loads of hay were offered for sale and the owners received from $1.50 to $1.60 a ton. It was here that corn and oats made the spectacular high prices, also. Four loads of corn were sold and two of oats.

The city weighmaster has announced that on Thursday the scales will be closed at 1 o'clock in the afternoon in observance of Lexington day.

MAN'S JOB CONVICTED OF FAMILY NEGLECT

Judge Tells Crane Worker to Secure Hoist in His Wages.

Gary Lemay, a steam crane operator in one of the large manufacturing concerns of the city, is able to raise everything but his wages, it appears from the testimony offered in the police court case in which he was charged with family neglect, Tuesday morning. He assists in working the lifting machine for a salary of $11.80 a week. He was able to account for all the money, which was swallowed up in house rent and baby's shoes.

"What you need is a real job," Judge Kerr told Lemay. "You haven't a job now. You are just working."

Lemay promised to do his best for his family and the case was dismissed. Two Other Neglect Cases.

Jacob Weber was charged with child neglect. He furnished bond to insure his paying $10 a month towards the keeping of his children.

Marion Colon was convicted of a like charge. He was placed under a $100 bond upon an order to pay $4 a week for keeping of his child.

Case of Arthur Bailey, Leo butcher, who is charged with driving the automobile which struck Imogene Brooks, daughter of John Brooks, 2008 North Clinton street, two weeks ago, was continued until Friday. Several witnesses for the prosecution had not been notified to be in court Tuesday morning.

The girl who was hit by an automobile, has been removed to her home from the St. Joseph hospital and is expected to recover. Several residents of Leo and families of that vicinity were in court Tuesday, in readiness to testify to the reputation of Bailey, who claims he was not driving the car which ran over the child.

Other Police Court Cases.

Charles Beuret, second street, who faced four previous convictions for intoxication charges, was fined $50 and sentenced to thirty days at the state farm. He will be at the institution for three months.

Other cases of public intoxication were: Paul Klincher, three previous convictions, fined $50 and sentenced to thirty days at the state farm. John Madden will be tried next Monday.

Harry Auspauhaugh was fined $10 and costs because he is alleged to have waxed disorderly when Carrie Connors, 617 Clinton street, attempted to collect a board bill from him Monday afternoon.

Clarence Lyon was fined $1 and costs on a charge of defrauding Walter Smith, 917 Eliza street, a boarding house keeper. Lyon pleaded that he had been ill and unable to meet his bills.

WAR'S MIGHTIEST BATTLE IS NOW RAGING

BERLIN REPORT HINTS RETREAT OF THE GERMANS

Official Statement Describes Fight as
One of Greatest in History
and Admits Retirement.

LOSSES OF ARTILLERY ARE INDICATED

Berlin, April 17.—Via London.—“One of the greatest battles of the mighty war and therefore also in the world's history,” says the official statement issued today by the German army headquarters staff, “is in progress on the River Aisne.”

“In the Champagne this morning,” the German statement adds, “fighting between Prunay and Auberive developed, the battle line thereby extending from the river Oise into the Champagne.”

“Our troops anticipate with entire confidence the coming heavy fighting.”

“A great French attempt to break through yesterday, the object of which was far-reaching, failed,” according to the announcement. “The losses of the enemy were very heavy. More

ASSAILS PRUSSIAN MILITARY CASTE FOR FAILURE IN AMERICA

Copenhagen, April 16.—Via London, April 17.—In today's Berlin Tageblatt Theodore Wolff comes to the defense of Count von Bernstorff and the German-Americans against the attacks made upon them in the conservative and pan-German press. The latest example of these attacks was in the weekly review, the Kreuz Zeitung, in which it was asserted that the Washington embassy had been perhaps the weakest point in the whole system of German diplomacy and had failed in correct judgment of American conditions and American temperament. Herr Wolff declares that this charge is utterly false. As for the German-Americans he says:

“The German-Americans, whom the jingo writers now wish to disown and repudiate for failing in their mission in America, have a legitimate grievance against the pan-German jingoes, whose extravagance of language and action has made any attempt to explain and defend Germany futile. Many of the German-Americans are out of sympathy with the Prussia of caste privilege and bureaucratic tutelage; but, if Prussia and the empire had a complete re-birth, the obstacles to love and attachment of the old fatherland would disappear.”

The writer declares that those who, after working for months to bring about war with the United States, now profess disappointment and surprise are doomed to further surprises. He warns them that the old autocratic Russia on which he says they relied for support of their reactionary policies is gone forever. Herr Wolff concludes with predicting the rise of a school of socialist diplomats, “who will spin threads of brotherhood and peace over the heads of the government.”

PARLIAMENT WILL WELCOME ENTRY OF AMERICA INTO FIELD

LONDON, April 17.—When parliament reassembles this afternoon after the Easter recess, one of the first acts of the government will be to offer in both houses resolutions welcoming the entry of America into the war. These will be moved on Wednesday by Premier Lloyd-George in the house of commons and by Lord Curzon in the house of lords. It is expected that former Premier Asquith will second the resolution in the commons.

The business before the commons today will be the second reading of the bill to prolong the life of the present parliament for several months from April 30. The bill must be passed by the latter date or a general election becomes inevitable. The government seems confident of its ability to pass the measure through at a single sitting, but it is said that certain currents are tending to force an election. The strength of these forces is unknown and the rumors in regard to them are conflicting. Opposition to the bill is said in some quarters to be threatened by the nationalists, but their attitude has not been made public, and may possibly not be decided until this afternoon when the party meets to consider the situation. The public is completely ignorant in regard to the whole question of an Irish settlement, and everybody is awaiting information as to the stand of the government. The attitude of the nationalists toward the prolongation of the parliament depends upon this information. According to some of the Dublin correspondents the outlook is regarded pessimistically there.

Interned German at Porto

of Ship's Fate.

San Juan, Porto Rico, April 11.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—What is believed to be authentic information as to the fate of the German cruiser Karlsruhe, which was active in the waters of the Caribbean sea and off the coast of Brazil during the first months of the war, was given this week by Heinrich Lubinus, former prize officer on the Karlsruhe and who brought the German prize K. D.-III into this port in January, 1915. The K. D.-III was formerly the British freighter Farnen and was captured October 5, 1914.

Sunk by Explosion.

The Karlsruhe was sunk following an internal explosion on November 4, 1914, not far from the island of Trinidad, according to Captain Lubinus, who said that he had only recently received this information direct from Germany from one of the surviving officers of the cruiser. This statement gives confirmation to reports from Trinidad about that time saying that life-preservers and portions of wreckage believed to have come from the Karlsruhe had been picked up there.

According to Captain Lubinus, Captain Kohler, commander of the Karlsruhe, several of the officers and more than 100 men lost their lives when the cruiser went down.

“The Karlsruhe was not built for tropical service,” said Captain Lubinus.

SOUTH BEND HAS WARM CAMPAIGN OF ENLISTMENT

South Bend, Ind., April 17.—It is expected that Monday's record-breaking number of enlistments will be equalled today at the various recruiting stations in South Bend. When the offices opened this morning scores of men were waiting to make inquiry regarding term of service and other matters of importance. By May 1 local recruiting officers state that South Bend will have furnished a greater percentage of men, based on population, than any city in the country. Organization of the headquarters company for the Third Indiana Infantry will be completed tomorrow night. When the national guard work here is completed South Bend will have four companies of infantry and one troop of cavalry.

A MONARCH WHO KNOWS MEANING OF WORD PEACE

Berlin, April 17.—Emperor Charles of Austria, is quoted by Bjorno Bjornsen as saying in an interview at Luxembourg, near Vienna: “I believe I know war better than most of the men who are at the head of the enemy powers today. I know not only the financial and economic effects of war but I know also what it means to die in the trenches. I have lived a long time in the field and have seen men fall and die at my feet. Therefore, I know also, may be better than any other emperor or king what peace means.”

INDIANA CITIES HAVE FAMINE OF AMERICAN FLAGS

South Bend, Ind., April 17.—A famine in flags exists in South Bend, Mishawaka, Elkhart and Goshen. Patriotism on the part of the residents of these cities has stripped the stores of their entire supplies.

BERLIN SAYS STRIKE PERIL PASSES AWAY

Berlin, Monday, April 16.—(Via London, April 17.)—A day of apprehension to Berlin ended tonight without alarming events. The threatened strikes because of a reduction in the weekly bread ration materialized in only a portion of the larger factories and did not affect transportation nor public utilities.

The strike leaders had planned an elaborate system of street demonstrations, which were to unite in an outdoor assemblage, but inclement weather kept down enthusiasm. Some of the factories affected announced tonight that the workmen would resume work tomorrow. In others meetings will be held in the morning to decide the future course of the strikers.

The strikers are limited to factories manned by unions belonging to the Liebknecht-Lederer branch of the socialist democracy. The Scheide-mann group is not striking.

Summary of the Day's War News

Along a 150 mile front battle line the French and British are pushing back the German armies in a titanic struggle for the mastery of the western front.

Stepping into the fray after the British had been hammering the German lines in the Artois region to bits for a week, the French struck along a twenty-five-mile front along the Aisne, carried the German positions to an average depth of from two to two and a half miles, captured more than 10,000 prisoners and maintained all the ground won. Last night, after the great success of their initial rush General Nivelle's forces occupied themselves with consolidating their new positions and resisting German counter attacks. All these assaults were repulsed and in the Artois region, west of Craonne, the Germans suffered heavy losses. Their total casualties all told in the first twenty-four hours' fighting are estimated at 100,000 men. Both British and French reports today indicate that the continuation of the operations is being hampered by bad weather. Nevertheless the British pushed forward in the region between St. Quentin and Cambrai, advancing east to Ephey to Tomblis farm within two and a half miles of Valenciennes, where they threaten to cut the St. Quentin-Cambrai main line of communication.

The strategic outlines of the Anglo-French attack have been worked out in complete harmony by the staffs of the two armies. The dispatches indicate entire co-ordination for placing and timing the blows delivered so as to insure

HOW ABOUT SQUIRT GUNS FOR ALIENS?

Man Wants to Know if They
Are to Be Considered
as Dangerous.

“My boy has a toy squirt gun out to the house and I wonder if I ought to bring it to the station,” a man asked Chief Lenz in all seriousness Tuesday morning. He thought there might be serious objections to his retaining such an instrument about the home because he said he reballed a decision by Judge Kerr in which a street car conductor was fined $10 for carrying a squirt gun. In that case the judge held the diminutive weapon to be dangerous. Chief Lenz does not believe it holds in the late alien ruling.

Many weapons were brought to police headquarters Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning. Chief Lenz says that while some of the foreigners may have to be told of the law he does not think that a man in Fort Wayne will refuse to carry out the order for turning over all dangerous weapons.

THE FIRST GREAT WOE OF THE WAR.

Wheeling, W. Va., April 17.—Seven hundred persons, 500 stogie makers and 200 girls employed as strippers, were out of employment here today as a result of the closing down for an indefinite period of the two plants of the largest stogie manufacturing concern in Wheeling. The high cost of material and labor is said to be responsible for the order closing the plants.

PEACE DESIRE OF AUSTRIANS

People of Dual Monarchy
Ready for Any Terms

NO TERRITORY OR

Empire is Nearing End of Its Resources and is Weary
of War.

Berne, Switzerland, Monday, April 16.—(Via Paris, April 17.)—Peace and spring weather are what the Austrian and Hungarian people most desire. During a long stay in Vienna, whence the Associated Press correspondent has just come, there was observed every indication that the government and the people are willing to accept any peace proposal leaving Austro-Hungarian territory intact and naming no claim for war indemnity.

By the same token there appears to be no doubt that the monarchy will continue fighting unless these minimum conditions are met. While the public is extremely weary of war its mind is made up to persist in the struggle to the end rather than accept humiliating terms.

End of Resources Near.
The demands made on Austria-Hungary's economic resources and human reservoir by the war is beginning to reach the limit of bearableness and the severe winter, whose after-effects are still felt, tend to increase the great burden borne by the population. The sowing of crops are about three weeks behind, which causes considerable anxiety, notwithstanding the fact that the winter crops are reported as in

CANADIAN AD MEN HAIL US AS BROTHERS

Indianapolis, Ind., April 17.—A letter approving the action of the United States in declaring war on Germany, written by representatives of the Canadian section of the International Circulation Managers' association, has been received here by J. M. Schmidt, the president of the association. The letter was dated at Toronto. It says:

“Now that the United States has joined the partnership of democratic nations in the unselfish struggle to overthrow a sinister conspiracy against liberty, justice and right, we cordially and fraternally welcome our American brothers as real friends and valuable allies to co-operate with the Canadian section of our association in all that may help to vindicate the great principles of freedom which our respective nations commonly uphold and represent.”

“We appreciate and approve the deliberate and determined action which the United States has now taken, and recognize the exalted and dignified sentiment contained in your president's statement and the practical legislation proposed by the United States war department. We beg to assure you that we are right with you as we feel you will be with us in helping to bring the war to a successful conclusion for the several nations now fighting against the central powers and that a lasting peace for humanity will ensue.”

The letter was signed by R. A. McCleary, of the Globe; W. J. Darby, the Mail and Empire; John Lang, the World; Wm. Elder, the Telegram; P. D. Beasley, the News, and Wm. Argue, the Star.

PRESIDENT HAS GIVEN WARNING AS TO TREASON

Washington, April 17.—Residents of the United States, both citizens and aliens, were warned today in a proclamation issued by President Wilson that the government will prosecute vigorously persons committing acts of treason either within this country or elsewhere. The president quoted constitutional and legal mandates against treason, including the authorized punishment by death or heavy fine and imprisonment, and cited court decisions to show that neglect to report information on treasonable acts or attempts to shield persons accused, also constitutes guilt.

U-BOAT ATTACKS U. S. DESTROYER NEAR OUR COAST

SUBMARINE BASE IS BELIEVED NEAR

Washington, D. C., April 17.—A German submarine today fired on the destroyer Smith about one hundred miles south of New York.

The presence of enemy submarines in American waters indicates that the threatened German submarine blockade of American Atlantic ports has begun.

This announcement was made at the navy department.

“Reported from Fire Island light ship to the naval stations at Boston and New York at 3:30 a. m. on the 17th, an enemy submarine was sighted by the United States ship Smith, running apparently submerged. Submarine fired a torpedo at the United States ship Smith which missed her by thirty yards. The wake of the torpedo was plainly seen crossing the bow. Submarine disappeared.”

First Information of the encounter came to the navy department in a round about way from the Boston navy yard which picked up the Smith's report saying she had been fired upon by a German U-boat.

The navy department after communicating with Fire Island, Boston, New York and some other points on the Atlantic coast announced that the report of the

SEVEN BILLION BOND BILL IS ON PASSAGE

Washington, April 17.—Consideration of the $7,000,000,000 war finance bill was begun today in the senate. Senator Stone, opponent of most of the administration war measures, announced that he would vote for its passage but thought it should have been framed along different lines and reserved the right to state his views later.

“This is a war measure, however, and I accept the judgment of the committee,” said Senator Stone.

Senator Simmons predicted that after the present issue another issue probably would be necessary, possibly at a higher interest rate. For this reason he said, it was desirable to give subscribers to the present issue the conversion rights to exchange their bonds for those having higher rate.

Senator Simmons said it would be

“long, weary months before we could render much assistance in the field. This bill represents all we can do now,” he said, “all they are asking us to do. In the name of America, of patriotism, of liberty and democracy, let us do it now—without carping or hesitation in the spirit of men inspired by the cause for which we are fighting. Let us give to the German Kaiser and his people, and to all their innuendoes that we are obsessed with wealth and that the cancer of riches has taken possession of the American people, this answer.”

“The conversion privilege has been found absolutely necessary by all the European governments. Probably we will have to pay more for money within a very short time.

Senator Penrose, senior republican of the committee, also said the conversion privilege was necessary.

The latter statement however appeared to reflect only the attitude of state department officials. Other administration officials said plans for publicity had not been decided upon. One cabinet officer stated the conference was a matter of tremendous public interest and intimated that some means would be devised to keep the public informed.

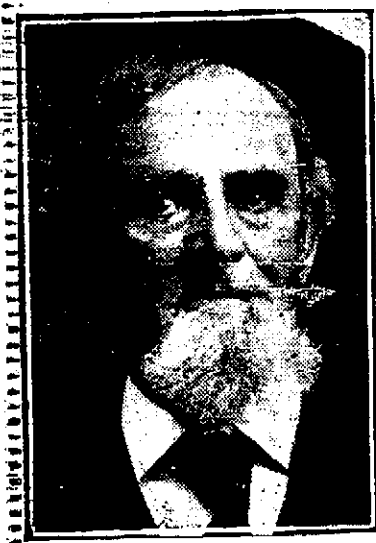

Secretaries Lansing, Baker and Daniels and George Cress, who comprise the government's new publicity bureau, conferred again today on plans of organization. While some progress was made it was said numerous details still were to be determined upon and it would be some days before the bureau was organized.

Plans for receiving the British and French war commissions went forward today surrounded by the curtain of official secrecy which has been deemed necessary until the commissioners are in the capital. Official announcement was made at the state department that “so far as the department's information was concerned the British commission headed by Foreign Secretary Balfour had not arrived in this country and reports to the contrary were utterly false and made from whole cloth. Added to this announcement it was stated after the commissioners arrive and the conference begin, no part of the discussions will be made public.

John Weber, aged 90 years, one of the best known horse dealers in northern Indiana, passed away Monday afternoon at his home, 226 West Main street, following an illness of several months.

Mr. Weber was born in Germany, but came to America when he was twenty-nine years of age and settled in Decatur, Ind. In 1887 he moved to Fort Wayne and had resided here ever since. For many years he conducted a sales stable on Pearl street and specialized in the wholesale trading of horses. He made many large shipments to eastern dealers.

The deceased was a member of St. Paul's Catholic church and of the various societies of the same congregation. The widow preceded him in death five years ago. He is survived by the following children: John R., of Decatur; Noah J., of Fort Wayne; Mrs. H. M. Homberg and the Misses Lena, Emma, Rosa and Adele, all of this city. There are also ten grandchildren.

Politically Mr. Weber was a democrat and an active worker for his cause. Notwithstanding his advanced years, Mr. Weber continued in active business until a short time ago.

SHRINE STREET PARADE WILL MARK CEREMONIAL

One Hundred Novices Will Make Pilgrimage Across Hot Sands.

An illustrious, spectacular and interesting street parade will mark the spring ceremonial of Mizpah temple, Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine next Friday. The parade will start at 6 o'clock. The crossing of the hot sands by one hundred pilgrims will take place in the afternoon. In the evening an entertainment has been planned.

The pageant, the only part which the public can witness, has been arranged by a committee composed of Byron Somers, R. B. Carmine and Arthur E. Smith. The famous Mizpah band will be in the line and will furnish the music. The Arabic patrol will also be seen.

One of the features of the parade, which spectators will look at with awe, will be Mildred, the camel. This wonderful animal, which was born in the jungles of nobody-knows-where, fifty miles from civilization, has become an educated animal. However, she cannot speak English and consequently she must have an interpreter. Cusma T. David will ride the animal, which will be housed in a beautiful gilded cage. He will interpret all the cute animal's sayings.

The parade will start from the Scottish Rite cathedral and move south on Clinton to Breckenridge, to Calhoun, to Berry, to Harrison, to Wayne, to Ewing, to Washington and back to the cathedral.

us. "She was designed for home waters. Her ammunition rooms were very hot and it is believed that an explosion in one of these rooms caused the ship to sink.

Memo in Two; Many Lost. "According to my letter, the explosion blew the cruiser in two almost midship, the forward portion, where Captain Kohler and more than 100 men were at the time, sinking immediately and without permitting anyone to escape. The after portion was twenty-four minutes afloat and many of those in this section of the ship saved their lives. Most of the survivors were picked up by another German ship, the Rio Negro, which made its way through the British blockade to Hamburg.

"On October 31 the Karlsruhe left us. We were to remain in a certain position off the Brazilian coast out of the usual sea tracks until she returned to us for coal. We sailed back and forth along a line sixty miles long for week after week and in all our waiting we saw but one vessel, a British man-of-war. We hoisted a British flag and the ship went on, apparently not noticing us."

After waiting for almost two months for the Karlsruhe to return, Captain Lubinus started for northern waters. He was almost completely out of supplies and water. Sailing mostly at night and keeping out of the way of ships in the South American trade, he finally made his way to this port, arriving on January 12, 1915.

Fate Long a Mystery. For more than two years after intercepting her, Captain Lubinus said he could get no information of the Karlsruhe. Then a few weeks ago came the letter from one of the Karlsruhe's survivors.

The Karlsruhe was at Havana at the outbreak of the war. Prior to that she had been on duty in Mexican waters. After taking coal and provisions here on August 9, 1914, little definitely is known of the cruiser's actions. If the statement of Captain Lubinus is correct, the Karlsruhe sank seventeen ships between that date and her capture of the Farnese October 5. How many more she sent to the bottom between that time and her sinking on November 4 may not be known until after the end of the war. Against the statement of Captain Lubinus is a story told within the past two weeks by an American ship captain. This captain said he was in Hamburg in January, 1915, and saw the Karlsruhe there at that time.

Oise and Conde on the Aisne. "The artillery fight which was continued today, leveled the positions and produced wide, deep craters rendering an obstinate defense no longer possible.

"The fighting no longer is against a line but over quite a deep and irregular fortified zone. "The battle swung backwards and forwards around our foremost positions, our object being, if the war material is lost, to spare the lives of our forces and to inflict heavy sanguinary losses and thus decisively weaken the enemy. This was achieved."

GREAT FRENCH OFFENSIVE.

Paris, April 17.—The great offensive opened by the French along a 25-mile front of Soissons to Rheims, is likely to extend still further tomorrow or the day after.

The tremendous assault on the German lines had long been carefully planned, and for a month past French artillery had been pounding the enemy's position.

The Germans were well aware of what was coming as they showed by a number of furious attacks made, notably at Sappignee and Godat farm, with the object of finding out something definite in regard to the French preparation. The invaders had manned artillery in formidable positions with effectives amounting to at least twenty divisions and an enormous number of guns, well supplied with munitions.

In Irresistible Wave. The battle opened on the left of the line, where, shortly after 8 o'clock in the morning the French infantry swept forward in an irresistible wave.

In spite of a stiff resistance the Germans were driven back and inside half an hour prisoners began streaming toward the French rear by hundreds. The struggle was hottest east of Loivre, as well as in the whole sector of Berry-au-Bac and to the east of Craonne, but the French heavy shells were too much for the Germans and before noon the whole first line was won.

On the right the action began a little later in the morning. The French met with a very determined resistance and the fighting was terrible. After several hours of heroic struggle the French infantry, thanks to the support of several hundred heavy quick firing guns, forced their way into the enemy's first line. It was a fine success, as the terrain was most difficult and the positions formidable.

Violent Counter Attacks. In the afternoon the Germans counter attacked with extreme violence almost everywhere along the front. The majority of their reserves were engaged south and east of the Brimont ridge. It is from the Brimont fort, built on a crest which dominates all the plain around, that the Germans have bombarded the city of Rheims. The French troops are now very close to this ridge, which is likely to play a prominent part in the coming fighting.

In capturing Loivre they have drawn nearer to Bernot court and have gone far beyond the famous position which they lost in the first weeks of the war, and failed to win back at the battle of the Marne.

According to the latest news reaching Paris, the Germans are bombarding the lost trenches furiously, counter-attack after counter-attack having been delivered far into the night. The struggle is particularly fierce in the region of Craonne, but the French have so far managed to hold their gains. The French advance averages in depth from two to two and a half miles beyond the German first positions.

BRITISH ADVANCE AGAIN.

London, April 17.—The British made a further advance in the neighborhood of Phepy last night, according to an official statement issued by the war office. Rain storms are hampering operations.

GERMAN COUNTER ATTACKS.

Paris, April 17.—German counter attacks in force in the region of Atties and Courcy were repulsed last night by the French according to an official statement issued by the French war office. Heavy losses were inflicted on the Germans.

CLAIM 10,000 PRISONERS.

Paris, April 17.—The French began an attack yesterday after several days' artillery preparation between Soissons and Rheims. Several German lines were carried and more than 10,000 Germans were taken prisoner.

The official announcement of this success, issued by the war office, describes the fighting as being of the utmost violence. The attack was on a front of more than twenty-five miles, every inch of which was fortified to the limit of German military science and caution.

line at the northern end. The joint operation apparently is aimed at the rolling up of the present German front in an effort to compel a retirement on a greater scale than any yet witnessed on the western front since the battle of the Marne.

Operations in other sectors of this front and in the other war areas are at present of secondary importance although the French activities further west in the Champagne and in the Alsace-Lorraine district apparently will bear close watching for possible important developments.

In Mesopotamia the British have advanced further up the Tigris to within little more than ten miles of Samarra, seventy miles northwest of Baghdad, where another battle apparently is impending. Little resistance has been made by the Turks in their retreat.

Berlin announces that battle which has opened on the Aisne as "one of the greatest in the world's history." The French attempted to break through with very heavy losses, says the German statement, which declares that fighting continues at a few places where the German lines were penetrated and fresh attacks by the French are expected. The Germans report the capture of more than 2,100 prisoners.

Evidently the French scored new advances this morning in the region southwest of Laon, the German report indicating a new attack by General Nivelle's troops between the river Oise and Conde, on the Aisne, in this region, where fighting of a more or less open nature is in progress and the Germans apparently are in retreat. The loss of guns is hinted at in the Berlin account.

Berlin also announces that this morning fighting developed on the eleven mile front between Prunay, seven and a half miles southeast of Rheims, westward to Auberville, the battle line being extended into the Champagne.

good condition. Spring weather is awaited eagerly for the planting of potatoes and other summer crops. The lateness of the season has been the cause of deferring the calling to the colors of recent levies of recruits, who will start training May 15 instead of April 15.

Food Problems Severe.

Vienna and other large cities continue to struggle with food problems which are due very largely to the extremely poor conditions of transportation. The long war has caused a general depreciation of railroad tracks and rolling stock. Another factor in the food shortage in the cities is the shortsighted system of regulations, leaving comparative plenty in many rural districts, while the thickly populated industrial sections are in want. Although food prices in Vienna are three times normal it is still possible to procure supplies in far off districts almost as cheaply and easily as in times of peace. The government regulations have been far from successful in many respects, although thus far they have seemed to keep in reserve supplies which ultimately will be available. In the meantime, however, the public is paying a terrific cost for this system in the form of extortion practiced by unscrupulous middlemen whom the government in most cases has been unable to reach owing to the fact that they have powerful Vienna banks behind them.

U-BOAT ATTACKS U. S. DESTROYER NEAR OUR COAST

It was stated in German soon after the action of congress that no aggressive steps would be taken against the United States.

Practically no American officials believed this statement, however, and steps to meet aggressive actions were taken at once. The probability of submarine attack on unprotected seaboard cities and towns, raids on shipping within sight of American shores and a submarine blockade of the principal Atlantic ports with the purpose of terrorizing shipping and people were expected.

Had Heard of Prohibited Zone. Last week word came to Washington in a round about way that Germany was about to declare a prohibited submarine zone about the harbors at Boston, New York, the Delaware capes, Chesapeake Bay, Charleston and Savannah. This would have included all the important ports on the Atlantic seaboard. It was said then that an official warning to neutrals of the prohibited zone would be issued from Berlin. Some American officials were disinclined to credit the report, but the entente diplomatic corps here believed in it, and predicted that Germany would soon carry the submarine campaign to this side of the Atlantic, principally for the purpose of sealing neutral shipping away from American harbors and to raid the great squadrons of merchant ships which are moving food and supplies to America's allies in the European battle fronts.

Some officials are inclined to believe that the lack of a declaration of a prohibited zone in American waters may be due to the crippled condition of communications with Germany since the United States entered the war. Without such a declaration they point out Germany will incur great claims of damages to neutrals and will carry on a new campaign without the color of legal authority, which she contends the declaration of a barred zone tends to it.

Would Escape Responsibility.

By declaring a prohibited zone around any of the American ports and limiting it to those waters, Germany would escape the necessity of declaring and maintaining a general blockade of the Atlantic coast line. When the task of the union navy during the civil war, in maintaining an effective blockade of the southern ports is recalled, the difficulties of a submarine blockade of that vast coast line may be estimated.

Suspect Bases on This Side.

With submarine war brought close to the doors of America the possibility that German U-boats may have bases on this side of the Atlantic is again revived. The raid of the U-53 and the two trips of the Deutschland demonstrated that it was possible for a German submarine to escape the British cordons in the North sea and make their way to America. Whether a submarine could make such a trip and return without having a supply base somewhere on this side of the Atlantic is gravely doubted.

Many officials here always have believed that the U-53 had a mother ship somewhere down on the horizon. The possibility that merchant submarines of the Deutschland type, now converted to carriers of fuel oil and supplies, might accompany flotillas of the war boats on their trans-Atlantic raids is recognized as being ever present. The possibility of bases having been planted by the German raiders recently at large in the South Atlantic is one of the foremost problems. It even has been suspected that parts of submarines had been shipped to Mexico and been assembled there, but by many well informed officials that is doubted.

Mexico May Afford Shelter.

The possibility of a German submarine base in the gulf of Mexico, however, has long been recognized and many officials have been convinced that when the raiding began as they were sure it would soon after declaration of war—the raiders would come from that quarter. There also have been many reports of secret German bases established on the rocky and inaccessible coasts of Maine and northern Canada, from which German U-boats could be supplied to raid the troops and supplies going from Canada to the continent. Inasmuch as there has been no evidence of the use of such base in more than two years of war it is considered unlikely that even if they exist they can now be brought into use in Germany's warfare against the United States. The navy has taken all the measures it now has at hand against the submarine menace and is taking more as they become available. Naval officers recognize the danger to submarine operations off American coasts, but are confident of the navy's ability to deal with them, so far as is possible at this time. Expert opinion is that some shipping is bound to be lost if the raiding is extensive, but that submarines operating 3,000 miles away from home have most of the disadvantages to contend with.

REMODELING EXPERT WILL SUPERVISE ALTERATION OF THIS HOUSE.

The above drawings are offered by Clarence R. Levy, remodeling expert, who is here this week from New York. The lower drawing is of a brick house, which is very unattractive, located just west of Willwood Park boulevard, on property recently purchased by the Monroe W. Flitch & Sons agency, known as "Crestholm" addition. The drawing above is the same structure after Mr. Levy has remodeled, making it a most attractive home.

Following Mr. Levy's plans the home will be remodeled at a comparatively small cost. It goes to show what wonderful improvements can be made to old houses and it is earnestly hoped by local real estate men that Mr. Levy's visit to Fort Wayne will result in the alterations and transforming of many old houses now in the city into modern, up-to-date and handsome residences. Work on the house referred to will start this week. Large brick pillars, with stone caps, will be placed at the entrance of the drive and large brick columns will also be placed on Taylor street, south of the homestead, which will be used as lighting posts.

The upper part of the house is to be stucco, with rough English timbers. The roofs, including porches, will be green. A sun parlor will be built on the east side. The interior finish will be very attractive. There will be a wide porch to the west side. The floors on the porch and sun room are to be red Holland tiles and the floors on the first floor of hard wood. French doors will take the place of the old doors. The woodwork will be removed and replaced with modern hardwood trim. There will be tiled bathroom on the second floor. The kitchen will be heated by steam heat. The remodeling of the house will be under the supervision of Mr. Levy and the result is being watched with great interest.

Mrs. Robert Barker, of Philadelphia, arrived here Tuesday afternoon, being called on account of the serious illness of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Charlotte Reynolds, who is at the Lutheran hospital.

Get Behind the Mayor Here.

Mayor William J. Hosey is putting his energy, enthusiasm and determination behind the "more food" campaign in a fashion that promises notable results. It is a labor in which all should share readily and to good effect; but, like all such movements, results come best from leadership and organization, and the mayor understands the value of both and is proceeding along those lines.

Mayor Hosey's patriotic zeal is beginning to stir the people of Fort Wayne in this work and it is a prediction that may be made without risk that this city will "do its bit" and much more. It is the duty of all to aid the government. There is no material service that can be given which will count for more than the work of producing food. That is something from which no one can be barred by circumstance or condition. The opportunity lies open to all. Mayor Hosey ought to have the hearty and hard-working support of everybody in his labor to bring all available soil in and about Fort Wayne under cultivation. That will help the government, it will strengthen the nation, it will add to the surety that the people will not suffer during the war for bare sustenance as the peoples of European countries have been compelled to suffer.

There are reasons which the war's end will not abate why the people of this country should devote themselves willingly and energetically to the production and conservation of foodstuffs. Those who apply themselves to these lessons now will later have occasion to be grateful to the leadership which is moving them forward to this great service of patriotism. All the people of Fort Wayne should give prompt and effective response to the mayor's call for the growing of foodstuffs. They will have not long to wait before they will appreciate the effort of the mayor and acknowledge that and every other influence that has wrought upon them to turn their hands to cultivation of the soil.

The people of Fort Wayne can produce a great volume of foodstuffs from soil that never has been made to yield—ground that is now lying idle and useless and will continue so to lie except response be made to the call of the nation for more food to meet the stresses that are already here and that will be increased many fold before the strain of war has passed from the land. After the war the people here and all over the country will understand of what value is the thing which by that time they shall have learned concerning their own resources and resourcefulness in labor and economy.

Lexington Day—Turn Out.

It will be on Thursday one hundred and forty-two years since the "embattled farmers" fired at Lexington the "shot heard round the world." It was April 19, 1775, that witnessed the beginning of the eight years of strife from which issued American independence and through which began the great and unending march of modern democracy. The anniversary finds America at war with a foreign foe. No better—certainly no more significant—time could have been chosen for a great patriotic demonstration. Fort Wayne has taken suitable note of that and on Thursday there will be an appropriate keeping of Lexington day. Paul Revere again will gallop his historic ride with his "midnight message"—a few hours late and in the garish light of day, to be sure—but he will ride, nevertheless, and let us hope at least that "the spark struck out by that steed in his flight" will kindle "the land into flame with its heat." Every good arrangement has been made that this demonstration shall be historically interesting and that it shall enlist the patriotic feeling and stir the national spirit of all the people of Fort Wayne and the country round about. As a spectacle it will be altogether worth seeing; as a purpose it will be much more worth while. The people of Fort Wayne will turn out en masse. The people of all northeastern Indiana are invited to join their neighbors of this city in making this anniversary of immortal Lexington everything it ought to be. It should be the occasion of a great revival of patriotic fervor. Take part in it—display the flags—wear the colors.

War it is, but there's good reason not to beat the plowshares back again into swords nor the pruning-hooks into spears. Than these better weapons of war there are not.

MAKING A CONSTITUTION

PREPARED BY
JOHN A. LAPP,
Director of the Indiana Bureau of Legislative Information.

(Copyright 1917 by John A. Lapp.)

Arbitrary governments often throw men into prison for alleged offenses and kept them there so that they might not be troublesome. Men were harassed by continual trials for the same offense and when thrown into prison were treated rigorously whether guilty or not.

Out of the long struggle for human liberty have come certain principles which are now a part of every man's conscience. One of these principles is, that "every man shall be deemed innocent until he is proven guilty." Every right is therefore accorded to him to prove his innocence because "it is better that ten guilty men should escape than one innocent person should suffer."

Both federal and state constitutions provide therefore that no person shall be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law; that every person shall have the right to a speedy and fair trial; that no person shall be put in jeopardy twice for the same offense; that cruel and unusual punishment shall not be inflicted; that excessive fines shall not be imposed; and that every person shall have the right of habeas corpus—that is to have the right to be brought before the court to see if they are lawfully held.

The Indiana constitution goes further and declares that "the penal code shall be founded on the principles of reformation and not of vindictive justice," thus setting up a standard for penal reform to which the state is admonished to adhere.

Of all the pernicious practices of the past, imprisonment for debt was perhaps the worst. Good men were thrown into prison where they could not earn money to pay their debts and because they could not pay they were kept there. Mere misfortune was more often the cause of imprisonment than criminal intent. The pitiable object of honest men in prison for no other cause than that they were unable to meet their debts caused good men to protest and finally, in many states, that protest became lodged in the people's conscience and was placed in their constitutions. A typical provision is this from Indiana's constitution, Sec. 22. The privilege of the debtor to enjoy the necessary comforts of life, shall be recognized by wholesome laws, exempting a reasonable amount of property from seizure or sale for the payment of any debt or liability hereafter contracted; and there shall be no imprisonment for debt, except in case of fraud.

The federal constitution contains no such guarantee and we have the condition of being protected against imprisonment for debt under state laws, but not against imprisonment for debt under federal laws. However, the spirit of the provision prevents and there is not likely to be any imprisonment for debt.

The federal constitution declares: No state may pass an ex post facto law—that is a law which provides for punishment for a crime committed before the law was enacted or increases the punishment or makes conviction easier in such cases. The federal constitution also prohibits the passage of such laws by congress. Indiana has the same provision but it is unnecessary because of the federal provision prohibiting the states from passing such laws.

Likewise the federal constitution prohibits the passage of laws by the states and by congress which impair the obligations of contracts. One exception is made in a few states and is quite generally proposed—namely, that any contract granting a franchise, privilege or immunity shall be subject to alteration, revocation or amendment at any time. By this provision the rights of the public are protected against the granting of perpetual franchises by corrupt city councils or others who hold power.

Since the famous Dartmouth college opinion, written by John Marshall in 1800, a franchise has been held to be a contract which could not be taken away or impaired. The experience of many cities proves the necessity that any one securing a franchise does so with the understanding that it may be taken away.

Above all rights named by the constitution, the provision—that the legislature "shall not grant to any citizen or class of citizens privileges or immunities which upon the same terms shall not equally belong to all citizens," strikes the average person as being nearer to fair play and democracy than any single declaration. "Equal rights for all and special privileges to none" is another way of putting it.

One of the rights which the people of the United States and of each state have sought to preserve was their freedom from arbitrary military power. When our forefathers won independence and established this government, they kept in mind the dangers of military power which had been throughout history the principal menace to people's liberty. They recognized the necessity for an army and navy for common protection, but they recognized, also, that the army should be subject to the people in such a way as to prevent the overthrow of liberties by successful generals. The Declaration of Independence voiced the sentiment of the people on this subject. One of the principal causes for separation from England was declared to be that the king had "affected to render the military independent of and superior to the civil power," and that he had "kept among us in times of peace, standing armies without the consent of our legislature."

So great was the fear of standing armies that the constitution makers in 1787, when fixing the powers of congress, provided that congress should have power "to raise and support armies but no appropriation of money to that use shall be for a longer term than two years."

Thus the need to raise and support armies was recognized, but fearing lest the army should become too powerful, it was provided that its supplies would have to be voted every two years. Any attempt of an army to dominate, as in some other countries, would be met by the failure of the money chest. Indiana put in the bill of rights in its constitution the provision

ODD, ISN'T IT?

NEW YORK—Four-year-old Baltimore girl was so energetic with spring feeling, she picked $20 worth of flowers in a hotel florist shop.

declaring that the military should always be kept strictly subordinate to the civil authorities.

One of the first amendments to the United States constitution, passed in 1791, declared that no soldiers should in time of peace be quartered in any person's house without consent of the owner. Indiana's constitution made a similar declaration. These provisions all tended to keep the military from any chance to dominate the citizens. But the people went still further in their attempt to safeguard themselves against military power. They gave authority to congress "to provide for organizing, arming and disciplining the militia and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States, reserving to the states respectively, the appointment of the officers and the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by congress."

Here, then, is a complete check to prevent a standing army from becoming a menace. Thus, no money available for the standing army unless the representatives of the people in congress see fit to vote it every two years, and the militia of the states, while under the regulation of the United States and subject to call from the United States, is commanded by men appointed by the different states, the officers being subject to appointment by the governor or other civil authorities in the different states.

HOW TO BE A CARTOONIST.

COMPLETE IN ONE LESSON.
First of all you have to be born a bum speller. Then you start in like you read about cartoonists: "When a child he always had a pencil in his hand and was everlastingly sketching likenesses on any scrap of paper, his father's cuffs and collars or the wallpaper."

When in street cars always put mustaches and beards on the faces of the ads.
Now for ideas.
Memorize these: Little Benjamin stealing jam; that's a good old one. Don't forget to label the jar "Jam" and always label the paint can "paint."

Father walking the floor at night in his bare feet with the infant is another good one. Don't forget to sprinkle a few tacks on the floor with dad all ready to step on 'em.

Then the cat on the fence. Remember to always picture a shoe, water pail or a bootjack being hurled through space in the father's direction. A fellow fishing. Always picture him pulling up an old boot.

The city slicker chap selling the rube a gold brick.

After you get all these down pat, show 'em to your friends and they'll ask you if you did it "free handed" and you tell 'em modestly "Yep!"

Then add: "It only took me ten minutes to make this one, and this one only took me five minutes," etc.

Now you're a full-fledged cartoonist. Don't let 'em tell you different.

POLICE COURT A JOKE
SAY SCHOOL LASSIES

Two bright-eyed high school girls tripped into police court shortly after the ballist's gavel had dropped Monday morning. They hunted out a seat in the northwest corner of the room and shyly surveyed the throng of men folks who filled the basement room.

Judge Kerr did not know that the lassies represented a civics class which is taught by Russell Wright at the high school and that they were bent on preparing a thorough report on police court methods, so he called one of the girls to his desk. He feared that she might be shocked by the testimony some of the uncouth men might offer, he told her. She shook her pretty curls vigorously. She explained in effect that high school girls missioned on obtaining reports for the senior class are too sophisticated to be bothered by such little things.

The girls remained throughout the court session and sometimes they smiled and wrote vigorously in their little notebooks when the men gave funny reasons for being intoxicated. The petite bearers of starched collars and neat spring hats gave their names as Esther Schind and Gladys Hadley. When asked what they thought of the city court they chirped in unison, "It is a joke."

GLAD TO LEARN OF IT.

April's changeable weather causes colds that lead to expensive doctor bills—bills that could be avoided if the cold were checked in time. C. Smith, 1421 12th St., Augusta, Ga., writes: "I got one 25c bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar, and my cough and cold is about well. I was glad to learn of a great medicine like that." Foley's Honey and Tar enjoys such a splendid reputation that it is often imitated. Of course, no substitute or imitation is as good as the genuine. Dreder Drug Co.—Advertisement.

BE PRETTY TURN! GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advertisement.

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts to flush Kidneys if Back hurts or Bladder bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach aches, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush out of the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink.—Advertisement.

FRANK DRY GOODS COMPANY

AT THE PALACE

NO LOW SPOTS.

New Palace Bill High Pressure Entertainment.

There are no low spots on the high pressure bill running at the New Palace for this bit of short order entertainment maintains a super level from the opening to the closing act, a condition that is remarkable in these hectic days of vaudeville extremes. The bill opens with the classiest bicycle act in years, the Cycling McNutts, who use an eccentric acrobatic comedy and a tiny girl to lend a comedy touch to their efforts. The act is handsomely dressed and moves with the speed the restless vaudeville goes demand. Then there's Mamma McNutt, who is by way being something to look upon. A new conception of the hula hula is given by Jessie Miller in the course of her sister act with Mable Miller. Miss Jessie is a graceful girl who dances the hula with a maximum of grace and a minimum of suggestiveness. Her sister is an instrumentalist worth while, especially when she clatters aboard a cornet.

As smart a bit of diversion as one will enjoy in many a day is offered by Fred Holmes and Lulu Wells in their skit "On the Door Step," in which after some particularly amusing small talk, the couple do several songs and dances. Grace Emmett, the famous Irish character comedian, who has been doing the Mrs. Murphy in the farce, "Mrs. Murphy's Second Husband," since written records were kept still is at it just as funny as ever and seemingly more popular. Olive Brisco has a way of her own in singing comedy character songs. The big act of the bill of course is Harrington Reynolds himself, in the musical comedy, "The Lingerie Shop," a dainty little act brimming over with hilarious fun.

We guarantee you more clothing value for your money than you can get elsewhere.

WELL KNOWN YOUNG MAN AND HIS BIRDE

MR. JOHN ESSIG.

MRS. JOHN ESSIG.

Mr. and Mrs. John Essig are busy these days receiving the congratulations of their many friends upon their marriage, which took place in Kalamazoo, Mich., on April 9. Mrs. Essig, who was Miss Emma Olinger, of Frankfort, Mich., had been in this city for several weeks with her sister, who is seriously ill, and because of the sister's condition it was decided to not postpone the wedding day selected, but to slip off to Michigan quietly and keep the marriage a secret until a chance should come in the condition of the sick woman. But even in this case, the carefully laid plans, the secret leaked out. To begin with the train bearing the bride and groom to Kalamazoo, was late and Mr. Essig was compelled to request the assistance of a friend, who in this instance was Mr. Orrin

Stair, the well known theatrical manager and part owner of the Majestic theater, of which Mr. Essig is the genial and obliging manager. Mr. Stair had his own automobile awaiting the arrival of the train in Kalamazoo on which were Mr. Essig and Miss Olinger and arrangements were also made to have the clerk's office kept open later than usual in order that the necessary license could be secured. Mr. and Mrs. Essig returned the same evening to Fort Wayne and for the present will remain with relatives. Mr. Essig is secretary of the Fort Wayne baseball team and his popularity in that position insures his ability in the field of sports as well as in theatricals. Mrs. Essig had often visited in Fort Wayne and her local friends will now rapidly increase in number.

Meriwether-Cook.

The nuptials of Miss Katharine E. Cook, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence F. Cook, to Mr. James R. Meriwether, only son of Mrs. James R. Meriwether, took place at near the noon hour on Tuesday, at the bride's home, 1010 West Wayne street. The marriage service of the Episcopal church, of which the bride is a communicant, was read by Rev. Edward W. Averill, and Rev. Dr. Wagners, who is pastor for the entire family of the groom, delivered the prayer. The guests were members of the two immediate families only. The bride presented a beautiful appearance in her traveling costume of champagne wool poplin and rose georgette crepe blouse, with which she wore a corsage of pink roses, lilacs of the valley with a touch of pink blossoms in the center of the bouquet. The bride song from "Lohengrin" played by Mrs. T. E. Ellison, announced the entrance of the bride with her father into the living room, and the groom and officiating clergymen received her in front of a banking of ferns and small palms against the fireplace. Baskets of pink roses and amaranth blossoms stood on the mantel, and tall white candles burned on either side. Following the marriage service as the bride and groom received the congratulations of the company the pianist played the Mendelssohn wedding march. A little later the wedding breakfast was served on individual trays, a lack of formality being a characteristic of this lovely wedding. The rooms were decorated simply with pink and white flowers and ferns. A number of relatives from out of town were present. They included Mrs. Maier and Mrs. Jack Simeral, of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse F. Patterson, of Loganport, Mrs. C. M. Dawson, of Toledo, Ohio, Mrs. Harold Wood, of New Albany. Later in the day the

DIAMOND AND WEDDING RINGS

IN DIAMONDS as well as any other jewelry commodity, two factors are very important to take into consideration: namely, the intending purchaser, namely:

The real intrinsic quality of the article.

The personnel of the concern, and its connections with direct sources of supply as well as its operating expenses attached to the wares thus offered to the community.

So to be fundamentally right, when quality and the good name of the concern is unquestioned, real values in diamonds or any other jewelry commodity may be obtained only where there is a low cost of doing business, pro rata, and a wide experience coupled with financial resources to buy in large quantities and distribute it in as wide a territory as is consistent with sound business judgment.

The growth and popularity of this store is a permanent feature of the proper application of the above methods.

TO BE UNDER ORDERS SUNDAY

Unofficial Report is That Local Units of Militia
Will Be Called.

CAPTAIN M'ADAMS AT INDIANAPOLIS

Company E in Need of 40
Men—Expecting a Big Day Thursday.

Company E, First Indiana Infantry, Battery D and Battery B will be under mobilization orders by Sunday is an unofficial report which is being noised about the recruiting station in the court house. Officers, who have been forbidden to reveal any orders, will not talk.

Capt. Ray McAdams, commanding officer of Company E, was at Indianapolis, Monday, and returned Tuesday morning. It is thought that he visited with the adjutant general while in that city. Arrangements may have been made at this time for the calling out of the three units of the national guard.

The local company of infantry is in need of forty more men, stated one of the men in charge of quarters Tuesday morning. They are anticipating an extraordinary big day Thursday before and after the great demonstration.

Recruiting has slowed up a great deal. Tuesday morning only six men made application. All were accepted.

Plan Farewell Dance.
Soldiers of Company E have made arrangements to give a farewell dance at Tanner's academy on Monday evening, April 23, at which time the uniform will admit any soldier to the assembly. Friends of the soldier boys have been invited. The committee on arrangements consists of John E. Miller, Jay Fish and F. L. Burnett.

Making Battleship.
Navy recruits are being engaged in making a model of a battleship for display as a float in the Lexington day parade. The vessel, ten feet long, made of heavy canvas and pine lumber, is an extraordinary reproduction of the historic "Indiana."

Work on the battleship has been going on night and day in the basement of the postoffice since Monday morning. The dignified craft with her big guns trained for action, will be one of the most showy features of the patriotic march.

Both the army and navy will make an effort to impress the need of recruiting on the day when we commemorate the battle of Lexington.

Army Getting Colored Men.
Many colored men have flocked to the colors since the order to allow them to enlist in equal standing with white recruits was issued. Eight negroes were enrolled on Monday and three more were enlisted Tuesday.

On Monday 140 men were sent to the army. It is an unprecedented record for the local recruiting station. On Tuesday morning twenty-five were enlisted.

Signal Corps Meeting.
At a meeting of the young men who have signed for the signal corps of the militia, held in the ball room of the Anthony hotel Monday evening, Harry Hogan gave a fine address on "Patriotism." The meeting was in charge of Capt. Bert S. Hawkins, of Indianapolis, who will have charge of the company as soon as it is secured for Fort Wayne.

Following the address of Mr. Hogan, Sergeant W. W. Kuhn, who has been promoting the signal corps work here, gave a talk telling a great deal of the actual work of this department. He was followed by Capt. Hawkins, who told of the special branch to be taken up by the Fort Wayne company, that of the telephone and telegraph. Other members on the program consisted of several selections by a quartet and others by an orchestra.

Capt. Hawkins returned to Indianapolis Tuesday morning and took with him the petition for the company which has been signed by eighty-five young men. Definite word is expected Wednesday and if it is favorable examinations will probably begin Thursday from Fort Wayne. Seventy-two are needed from Fort Wayne to fill the company but it is estimated that 25 per cent of those signed up will fail to pass the physical test.

ALL BRIDGES BEING COATED WITH WHITE

Another Precaution Being Taken to Lessen Number of Accidents.

Bridges, large ones and small ones alike, are being given two coats of white under the supervision of the county road superintendent. This measure is being taken in order to lessen the number of accidents in the summer time.

The work is being done by a gang of prisoners from the Allen county jail. Nearly all the bridges have been given one coat and another coat will be put on immediately. The abutments of all bridges are being painted. Cement bridges are getting a white coat all over while only the facings of iron bridges are being painted.

Last summer many accidents occurred where automobile drivers stated that they could not see the bridge and as a result hurried into it. The county superintendent states that after the bridges have been painted white that they can be seen a half mile away.

SHERIFF TO START A BIG BROTHER MOVEMENT

Youths Who Are Arrested on Minor Charges Will Be Put on Farms.

Sheriff George W. Gillie has started a big brother movement which he believes will be a benefit to all youth who are arrested on minor charges. He expects to place all young men who come under his jurisdiction somewhere on a farm in Allen county and make them report to him once a week. In doing this he believes that he will not only make better citizens out of the boys but will help to quell the distressing cry from the farmers for help.

This movement was inaugurated Tuesday morning. The sheriff received a call from some prominent people in the city Monday morning that a deserter from the United States army had coaxed another young man away and that both of them had gone to Lagrange. The Lagrange officials were notified and they placed both of the young men under arrest.

Clarence R. Luce, the alleged deserter from the United States regulars, is being held until an investigation can be made. The other young man whose name would not be revealed, will be placed on a farm where he will work the entire summer.

COURT HOUSE CLOSSES.

Every office in the Allen county court house will close at noon Thursday, giving all employees an opportunity to march or witness the parade. However, it is stated that the treasurer's office may open after the parade to allow those people who wish to pay their taxes to do so.

Ask for $115 Damages.
Nathan Judenfreund has sued Albert F. Skeer for $115 damages for alleged breach of contract. Colerick & Hogan are his attorneys.

To Quiet Title.
Charles W. Snyder has begun action against Susan Wycliff et al. to quiet title to some real estate. Somers and Kennerk are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Judgment Given.
The plaintiff in the case of William E. Meyers versus Frances Gladioux, et al., was given a judgment of $137.75 in superior court.

Marriage Licenses.
Rex Austin Morton, officeman, to Alice G. Carey.
James M. Meriwether, electrical engineer, to Katherine E. Cook.

BIG PLANS ARE MADE TO BRING FOOD CONTROL

Washington, April 17.—Legislation to empower the council of national defense to supervise distribution of food, and, if necessary, fix maximum and minimum prices, was being framed today as one of the results of yesterday's conference between the great Chicago meat packers and Secretary Houston, of the department of agriculture. Headed by J. Ogden Armour, a delegation of the foremost packers, including Edwin Morris, E. A. Cudahy, Thomas E. Wilson and L. F. Swift, assisted by Secretary Houston of their utmost co-operation and voluntarily proposed that the government take steps to fix prices through the council of national defense.

The licensing of food distributing agencies so the government may trace any movements of middlemen or others to monopolize supply or force raises in price is one of the features of the plan the packers proposed. As their own "bit" in defending the nation the packers offered a plan to distribute their products at a minimum of profit to themselves and one of them estimated the saving to the public would approximate at least $100,000,000 a year.

The licensing of food distributing agencies so the government may trace any movements of middlemen or others to monopolize supply or force raises in price is one of the features of the plan the packers proposed. As their own "bit" in defending the nation the packers offered a plan to distribute their products at a minimum of profit to themselves and one of them estimated the saving to the public would approximate at least $100,000,000 a year.

INCENDIARIES ARE BUSY AT BLUFFTON

Painter Storage House and Elevator at Bluffton
Are Set on Fire.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Bluffton, Ind., April 17.—The painter storage house and the Arnold elevator were damaged by fire believed to have been of incendiary origin, last night. The fire was first discovered in the John H. Painter storage house, which was damaged to the extent of $6,000 before it could be extinguished. Howard Green and Howard Shelley, who were returning to their homes from the Painter fire, discovered the blaze in the Arnold elevator. An alarm was immediately given by them and the fire was extinguished before any great damage was done.

One hundred pounds of sugar was in the Painter storage house, most of which, however, was saved. There were large quantities of other food-stuffs in the building.

Death of Dr. Morris.
Dr. Thomas Morris, sixty-eight years old, died this morning after an extended illness at his home in Mount Zion. Seven weeks ago he was operated upon in an effort to save his life. He is survived by the widow and two sons, Oscar Morris, of Mount Zion, and Dr. George Morris, of Petroleum.

WILL MARCH 16 ABREAST

Twenty Bands Will Furnish Music for Lexington
Day Parade.

PAUL REVERE WILL AROUSE THE PEOPLE

Special Cars Will Bring
Throng to Patriots'
Day Celebration.

Sixteen abreast will march the marshalled host of the citizen army in the Lexington Day parade, next Thursday afternoon. Twenty bands will furnish the martial strains which will put added life into every step of the marchers.

Special interurban cars will bring crowds of people from all surrounding towns to the great patriotic celebration. Butler has pledged to send 500 citizens to the demonstration. Monroeville is expected to furnish as many more.

All street car traffic on South Calhoun street will be closed during the time set for the parade. No traffic of any kind will be allowed on the thoroughfare from 1:30 until 3 o'clock.

Once more will the call of Paul Revere arouse a peaceful people. He will ride his steed in a mad pace along South Calhoun street Thursday, shortly after noon and just before the gigantic Lexington Day parade starts from the Pennsylvania passenger station. Above the ringing sound of his horse's hoofs on the paved streets the modern Revere will shout the war warning of 1917.

When the horseman, who will be Frank Martin, manager of the Fort Wayne Transfer company, has clattered past, there will come the steel throated call from the large Pennsylvania fire whistle. This will be the signal to start in motion the greatest parade ever formed in Fort Wayne.

Out upon Calhoun street, down past the county court house where snowy heads of civil war veterans will nod their approval, from a large platform, and west on Main street to the interurban station, will tramp the host of citizens.

Dr. Frank Jaynes and Mayor Hoesy will address the assembled throng as part of the flag raising ceremony. They will impress the need of service to the country in this moment when our free principles are being impaired by imperialism.

A Novel Feature.
A pretty and novel feature in the parade Thursday will be the presence in the line of over 400 women from the offices and the factory of the General Electric works. A canvass of the office and shops today disclosed the fact that the women are as enthusiastic in their patriotism as the men, and are willing to turn out in the parade. Nearly every woman approached on the matter readily agreed to take part in the parade. The details of arrangement in the procession have not been worked out in full.

Mayor Hoesy and Harry Muller attended a mass meeting at Monroeville Monday night and extended an invitation to all citizens of that town to be present.

Dr. D. E. Kaufman, who presided at the meeting, appointed the following committee to arrange the attendance of Monroeville people at the Fort Wayne patriotic celebration: W. E. "Farmer Poet" Dies at Home in Howe

SILAS B. MCMANUS.

Silas B. McManus, 70 years old, who died suddenly at Howe, Ind., Sunday, as a result of a stroke of apoplexy, was a writer of no little note and had contributed for all the leading publications in the country. In late years he had devoted his entire time to writing and lecturing and had traveled extensively.

The deceased was familiarly known as the "Farmer Poet." "Papa, What Would You Take for Me?" was one of his most popular poems. He was a personal friend of the late James Whitcomb Riley.

Mr. McManus some years ago resided in Fort Wayne and was connected for a time with both the Gazette and The Sentinel.

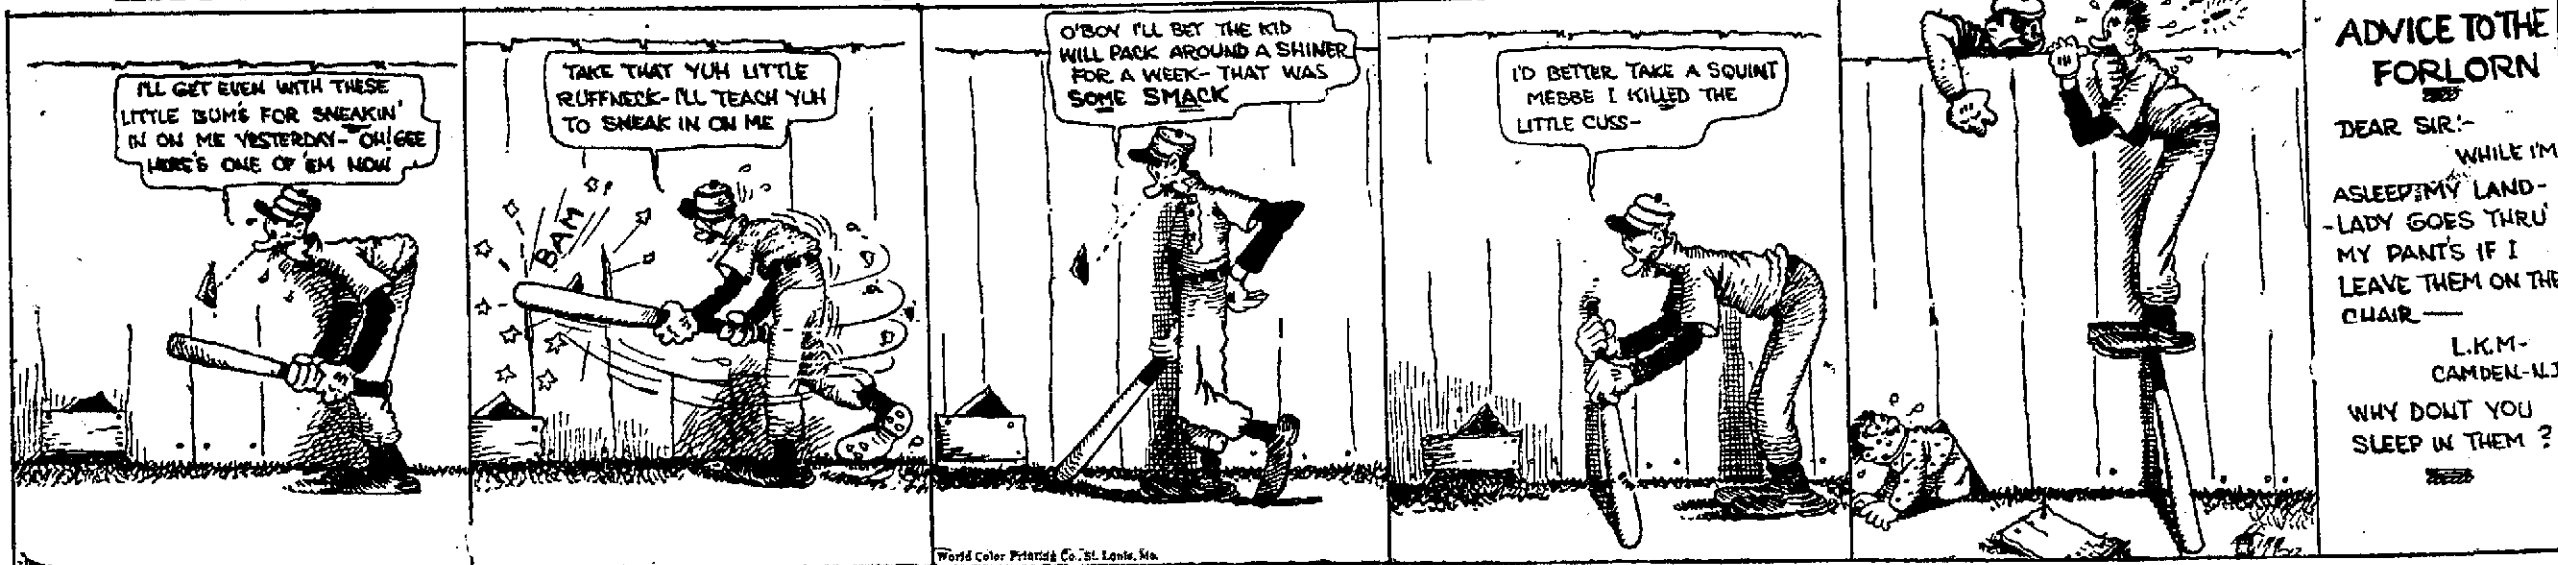

PARK BOARD OFFICE FOOD DRIVE CENTER

The park board office, on the third floor of the city hall, is to be the headquarters for the great food campaign during the summer. Applications for plots of ground to be cultivated and for seeds should be made at that office.

Meeting of the committee appointed by Mayor Hoesy to conduct the "plant a lot" movement will meet in the park board office, Tuesday evening and determine definitely on methods of accumulating use of all possible garden space and allotting the same. The committee is made up of Frank H. Hilgemann, chairman; Alex Ackerman, W. F. Grater, Miss Norma Erf, head of the city school garden work; Miss Flora Wilber, principal of the Lakeside normal, and County Agent A. J. Hutchins.

The committee says it recognizes the good faith of the suggestion for joint action of the two political parties and concludes its report:

BASEBALL TRAINING STARTS WITH A PUNCH IN INITIAL PRACTICE

FORT WAYNE PITCHER LOSES RIGHT FINGER

In Accident on Last Day Before Reporting for Training.

Pitcher Smith, of Gary, was to report to Manager Vandagriff for training work Sunday. Saturday morning was his last day at work in one of the steel mills of Gary. During the day he had one of the fingers on his mauling paw cut off. Pitcher Smith did not report Sunday, and a letter arrived this morning explaining why he failed.

This is another man added to the list of those lost to the club, a list which seems to be growing. However, the local bosses are convinced that the players who can't show up have all reported the bad news and that there will be no more losses.

Twelve men worked out in the first session yesterday, and most of them were in good shape and able to do better work than was expected. They covered the ground and swatted the ball as if they had been at it at least two weeks. Two more came in last night, Pitchers Tom Roberts and Fetherlin being the latest arrivals. Roberts is reported to be a miniature iron man. He will be the smallest man on the club, and is a former teammate of Richardson, the biggest candidate to show up here this season.

The first workout consisted of infield and outfield practice, running around the field, batting practice and practically everything else which generally shows up after two weeks' work. It is evident that most of the players followed the advice given by Vandy and got in some light work before leaving their homes.

A fair sized crowd of fans were on hand for the opening session of work. They had a chance to look at Richardson, Blank and Tomet, pitchers; Powers and Dodd, catchers; Ronney and Woodward, first basemen; Brown and Forest, shortstops; Slagter, third sacker, and Robinson and Glick, outfielders.

The latter pair make a couple of the best outer garden performers seen around here for some time. They are both easy working players but they cover the ground and judge the ball in regular manner. Slagter is another player who stood out as having class yesterday, and the same is true of Ronney and Pitcher Richardson.

Manager Vandagriff was back on the job today and had charge of the players. Since they have all seemed able to stand some hard work, it will not be lacking the rest of the week, and the club ought to be in good condition by Sunday when the first game is to be played against Mart Cleary's Lincoln Life club.

LEADERS IN TOURNEY

STILL UNTHREATENED

Fort Wayne Fives Fail to Top Count Set by Dave and Mack's.

Twelve Fort Wayne five-man teams tried last night to better the score set up in the first night's play in the state bowling tournament by the Dave and Mack quintet of Gary. The highest team, Blank & Co., with 2,438, missed the leaders by more than 400 pins.

Next to the Blank pinmen last night came the A. B. Mull tailors with a count of 2,417. Scores of the twelve clubs are as follows:

BETTER WATCH YOUR STEP, CHICK EVANS—HERE'S ANOTHER ATLANTA GOLFER.

(By Paul Purman.)

Atlanta, Ga., April 17.—Atlanta has come to the front in golf in recent years, mainly through the development of several young stars who have caused older and more experienced golfers of national and even international fame more trouble than they bargained for when they tackled the fine courses here at the East Lake and Druid Hill clubs.

Everyone knows of the remarkable records of Perry Adair and Bobby Jones, but there is a 17-year-old golfer here whose future, in my opinion, will be more brilliant than that of either of these if he cares to make the most of his golf. He is Tommy Prescott.

While these other Atlanta youngsters, who have won places in the golf hall of fame, have been playing golf since they could carry a club around, Prescott did not take the game seriously until about a year ago. He had formerly played baseball and football, which accounts for his superb athletic build.

On the links Prescott is the acme of coolness, nothing bothers him. He meets golf and bad breaks with the same stoicism. He never loses his temper and plays his best golf under the greatest mental strains. His opponent's game has no effect on him.

To the casual observer Prescott seems to play carelessly, but the reason for this is that his judgment of distance and of conditions is so remarkable that he gets away with his strokes before the average golfer would have finished his preliminary stroke.

Golfers in the future must reckon with Prescott. He is a golfer of the Vardon and Ray type, much stronger physically than Evans, Travers and most of the other present day golfers of prominence. He has the temperament to back up his strength and seems to play golf intuitively.

Speaking of Sport

Lurid Larry Says:

THIS WORRIES US.

The annual croquet matches at Florida university have been called off on account of the war.

As a white hope Fred Fulton seems to be a very fine plasterer.

A Goshen bowler rolled 95 in his first game. The lid was on Sunday night, too. Jim Corbett must be pretty sore at Giant McGraw. Jim has predicted the Giants will win.

Howard Drew has decided to try a comeback. Probably meaning that there's a dark cloud on Jo Loomis' horizon.

Rattling the cans around a baseball club house now isn't a pleasant sound to many young Ty Cobbs just discovered in March. A Utah girl can pitch with either arm.

Wonder why Connie Mack hasn't signed her.

Walter Johnson is going back. He only struck out eleven men and allowed all of three hits opening day.

COBB DETERMINED TO SHATTER ALL RECORDS

Will Make the Greatest Effort of Life to Regain Honors.

Ty Cobb this year is due for his greatest effort since he joined the American league thirteen years ago.

Boosted out of the batting leadership of the league for the first time in a decade last year, the Georgia peach, according to his teammates, is not only going to try to wrest back the batting honors from Tris Speaker but will also try to hang up a record which will push him out ahead of Willie Keeler for average batting for thirteen years.

At the end of his twelfth year in baseball Cobb was just three-tenths of a point behind Keeler's record from 1892 to 1904. But in 1895 Keeler fell to .302 and Cobb is getting his eyes near a .400 mark this year.

Cobb isn't doing any talking himself. He isn't predicting he will bat .390 or .380 or any other figure.

"I'm going to be out there trying," is the way Ty Cobb puts it.

But Cobb reported in the best of shape. He is slender as a sprinter and is fast as ever on the bases. That the old-time Cobb "fire" is there was indicated by that affair with Herzog.

HOW FAT FOLKS MAY BECOME SLIM

BE MODERATE IN YOUR DIET, BREATHE DEEPLY, TRY OIL OF KOREIN.

Fat persons, particularly those from ten to sixty pounds above normal weight, will be interested to learn that they may easily reduce their weight without starvation diet or tiresome exercise.

If you are overweight, you are daily drawing on your reserve strength and are constantly lowering your vitality by carrying this excess burden. Don't jeopardize your health or be a laughing stock among your friends by taking one after each meal and one before retiring at night. Also follow the simple directions that come with the box.

Surprising reports of weight reduction come in—even after just a few days' treatment. With proper reduction the flesh becomes firm, the skin smooth and the general health improved; in fact, work seems easier and a lighter, more buoyant feeling takes possession of the whole being. It is a fine sensation—that of looking and feeling young, supple, cheerful, active, alert and magnetic.

Oil of korein is absolutely harmless and is pleasant to take.

If you want to reduce ten to sixty pounds you should give this treatment a trial. You will probably find it is just what you need. Start on the road to longer life and happiness today.—Advertisement.

DIX IS WAR MANAGER OF CITY LIGHT PLANT

Will Act in Wessel's Place Till "Johnnie Comes Marching Home."

Frank Dix, in the position of secretary, manager and chief electrician, will pilot the city lighting plant through the perils of the world war while John Wessel, Jr., is away to the front in active service. Appointment of Dix to take the position of Wessel during the war was made by members of the board of works, the mayor and city controller, Monday evening.

Dix will take active charge on next Monday, when Wessel leaves for training camp. The plan laid out by Dix and endorsed by city officials is to keep Wessel's position open for him until his return.

The acting manager will have little difficulty in applying himself to his new position as he has been an active force in the advancement of the city lighting department since its organization in 1908. He is thoroughly familiar with every part of the lighting system.

The $20,000 advertising plan of the lighting department will be carried on as has been arranged. Plans for the campaign have already been pretty thoroughly worked out.

TRACTION LINES WILL PREPARE FOR DEFENSE

Receive Bulletin from American Electric Association.

General Manager S. W. Greenland, of the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company, has received a bulletin which has been sent to all companies in the American Electric Railway association by the committee on national defense of the association. The bulletin deals with the protection of lines in war times.

One piece of advice given in the bulletin is the consideration of the employment of women as conductors, "motormen" and in other capacities, if a lack of men makes it necessary. The protection of all points in the lines is also advised and special stress is laid upon the necessity of this at tunnels, bridges and dispatch stations.

It is considered wise to enclose power houses and shops in high walls and to give each employe a badge so that people with no business inside the walls will be kept out. Explosions and incendiary fires in this country have given rise to the suggestion of these precautions.

According to the bulletin, all of the suggestions have been made only after a complete study of conditions in this country and in Europe, and it is considered wise that they be taken. Just what will be done along these lines here has not yet been decided.

REPUBLICAN SENATORS TO UPHOLD WAR

Washington, April 17.—Republican senators in conference today decided generally to stand behind the president in war legislation so far suggested to congress, but made no effort to bind senators to approve selective conscription or to accept the administration revenue proposals in the exact form advocated by the executive department. There was a distinct feeling that there should be no general legislation at the present session and that congress should get away before mid-summer.

The executive board of the Retail Merchants' association has decided to ask all the members of the association to close their places of business from 2 o'clock p. m. to 4 o'clock p. m. on Thursday, the 19th, on account of Lexington celebration.

WOLF & DESSAUER EMPLOYEES FROLIC

Firm's Anniversary Celebrated by 500 Women and Men at Party.

All the five hundred employees of the big store of Wolf & Dessauer and their families and the two members of the firm and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wolf and Mr. and Mrs. Myron F. Dessauer, gathered in Moore hall on Monday evening to celebrate the twenty-first anniversary of the founding of the store. The New Efficiency club of the store, which embraces all of the employees, made the plans for the evening and carried them out, but Messrs. Wolf and Dessauer were the hosts. It was one great laugh and jollity from the beginning to the last footstep from the hall about 1 o'clock in the morning. The hall was handsomely decorated with flags and hunting and when at the opening of the program for the evening the tableau of the Goddards of Liberty attended by several Boy Scouts and army and navy representatives was shown, Franklin's orchestra played "The Star-Spangled Banner" and the big crowd rose and sang in a manner to have raised the roof on the building less new and strong than the Monroe handsome quarters. As the strains of the song died away conversation began, but with frequent interruptions, as dancing was in order and the young people tried the old-fashioned quadrilles and the older people essayed to do the most modern fox trot.

The specialties were between numbers and much hitherto unsuspected talent came to light all the way from cashboys to the highest salaried men and women. Besides there was something to eat and drink all of the time, something like sixteen thousand sandwiches, a cartful of ice cream, a hundred thousand pickles and numerous clothesbottles full of coffee. At least that is the report.

At any rate it all went to demonstrate that the Wolf & Dessauer force can play as well as they can work. Everybody laughed until his sides ached and all voted the annual ball, for the event is to come off every year, a huge success.

BONDS AT PAR.

The bulk of $128,000 worth of City Coliseum bonds were sold to the J. F. Wild and Company, of Indianapolis, Monday evening. The bonds were disposed of at par. Other bidder on the bonds was the Fletcher-American company, also of Indianapolis. They bid $7 per cent with interest.

The meeting in which the bonds were sold was held in the office of the city controller and was attended by the auditorium committee of the city council, City Attorney Colerick, Controller Baude and representatives of the competing bonding firms. The war situation is believed to have lessened the interest of other financial institution which had expressed a desire to possess the city coliseum bonds.

O. R. C. AUXILIARY HOLDING SCHOOL

Grand Officers Here to Instruct Members in Ritualistic Work.

An event of unusual importance in auxiliary circles in Fort Wayne is the "school of instructions" of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Order of Railway Conductors, which commenced today and will continue tomorrow at Unity hall. Delegates from the Bellevue, Toledo and the Lima auxiliaries are participating with Kekionga division, No. 51, in the exercises and there are a number of visiting auxiliary ladies from Huntington and Garrett. Grand officers present to conduct the work are Mrs. J. H. Moore, of Toledo, grand president of the auxiliary, and Mrs. M. E. Sewell, vice grand president. Mrs. Moore arrived yesterday and stopped at the Anthony, where she met a number of the members of the local division last evening, and Mrs. Sewell came down from Chicago this morning and went immediately to the hall.

The first feature of the event was an informal opening and reception at the hall, which partook of the nature of a "get acquainted" gathering, at 9 o'clock this morning. After luncheon, the business for which the gathering was called began, the grand officers commencing without any waste of time instructing the class in the work of the order. This evening at 5:30 o'clock the members of the O. R. C. will take the auxiliary ladies on an automobile ride over the city, depositing them at the door of the Elks' Temple, where a banquet is to be held at 6:30 o'clock. After the banquet the ladies will again become the guests of the O. R. C. members at a theater party at the Palace.

Another school session will be held Wednesday morning, followed by a dinner at the hall at 12 o'clock. The committee on arrangements for the meetings and the entertainment of the visitors is composed of Mrs. C. A. Bowman, chairman; Mrs. Ella Bonter, district deputy; and Mrs. F. H. Davis, president of Kekionga division. The excellence of their work is in evidence everywhere. The hall is beautifully decorated with national colors and the social features are of a high class and are being enjoyed by all.

If we count the grand president, Mrs. J. H. Moore, Toledo, and the visiting auxiliary ladies present, those from Toledo are Mesdames W. O. Barnes, M. Peters, A. C. Knepper, F. V. Hendrix, G. H. Walbridge, W. J. Campbell, R. N. Deacon, W. C. Fago, H. F. Sturgeon, A. F. Fritz, J. C. Albert, J. W. Smith, C. A. Hunter, Della Stahall and R. Sharpless. From Bellevue—Mesdames W. V. Harper, George Harper, Christian Sauer, G. M. Sauer, Frank Steibing, Lou Miller, James Sweeney, R. M. Meyers, Nellie Zeigler, Carl Phillips and J. O'Connor. From Lima—Mesdames L. R. Carpenter, T. Mulally, M. B. Bassett, H. W. Peck, J. P. Jackson and O. S. Moller. From Detroit—Mrs. Vorn Seville, Mrs. Anna Stueg and Mrs. Elizabeth Judd. There were some ladies from Huntington and Garrett also, but they were visiting members and were not active in the exercises.

BIG FLAG BADLY DAMAGED.

Nickel Plate Yard Men Hoist Smaller Ones.

The proposition to erect a big pole and flag to the breezes the massive American flag which was dedicated by the Nickel Plate employees with much impressive ceremonies nineteen years ago, when the Spanish-American war was in progress, had to be abandoned because of the condition of the big banner. It had been in a chest at the home of Conductor James A. Nicholson since it was relieved from duty on the pole at the yards many years ago, and it was believed to be all right. But an investigation revealed the fact that the fabric was weakened by age and would not stand the strain unfurling would put upon it. Instead of the one mammoth flag, therefore, three smaller ones are to be used. One already flies over the company offices and depot, a pole for another has been erected at the side of General Foreman M. J. Meldrum, near the roundhouse, and a flag will be put upon it as soon as it arrives from Chicago. The third pole will be located at the corner of the office of General Yardmaster Charles F. Lyons, the flag for which has also been ordered. It is not proposed to have much ceremony at either of these poles when the flags are unfurled because of the danger to people where crowds assemble on the tracks.

BROTHERHOOD MEN TO PUT OUT FLAG.

Arrangements have been completed for unfurling an immense flag over Calhoun street, in front of Unity hall, which will represent the loyalty of the brotherhoods which hold their meetings in that building. The plan of unfurling the flag is to have everything ready, and as the four brotherhoods, which will participate in the big parade Thursday pass that point, the flag will be unfurled over their heads. At the same time the band will play "America." The brotherhood men are requested to meet at Unity hall at 1 o'clock, ready for the parade. Each of the four brotherhood will be represented in the procession.

REPAIRING COAL DOCKS.

Henry Zollinger, A. W. Horstmeier and H. W. Wiedelman, millwrights and carpenters at the Pennsylvania shops, are at Dola, Ohio, doing some work on the company's coal docks. The weather was cold and they were not able to put the concrete foundation under the docks, temporary foundation was erected and this is now being replaced with concrete.

CAN RETURN TO SHOP AT CLOSE OF WAR

S. F. Bowser & Co. Will Re-instate Returning Soldiers in Factory.

"Every employee of this company who enlists in the army or navy and remains until he is honorably discharged will be immediately reinstated in the shop upon his return to the city," said S. F. Bowser, president of S. F. Bowser & Company, in an address at a flag dedication at the big oil tank works at 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon. Mr. Bowser also told his hearers that the company was going to establish a "roll of honor" and hang it in a conspicuous place in the company's office. This "roll of honor" would include the name of every employee who enrolls in the service of the government, the date of enlistment and the department in which he serves during the war with Germany. Twelve young fellows, employees of the company, have already gone to the war in various capacities and many more will undoubtedly respond to the call. A number are members of Company E, which is liable to call at any moment.

The dedication of the pole and flag purchased with contributions of the employees at the factory was a patriotic and impressive event. One of the big auto trucks of the company was driven up to the building, immediately beneath the flagstaff, draped in national colors and used as a speaker's stand. And it was from this stand that S. F. Bowser made his liberal offer and pledged himself, the S. F. Bowser company and the employees to the support of the United States to the best of their ability.

The whistle sounded a few minutes after 3 o'clock and immediately the officers, foremen and employees filed out of the several exits, each department separate and headed by a color bearer, and marching down past the speakers' stand on Bowser avenue.

Counter-marching wherever necessary and grouping on the sidewalks and streets, forming a mass of humanity which covered a space of over a square. The office force, which included many women, presented a most pretty scene, many of the women carrying small flags.

After the speaking the flag was hoisted to its position on the staff and as it responded to the pull which released its folds, allowing it to spread in the breeze, midst the cheering of about 2,000 people and the noise of the Bowser drum corps, this scene was indeed inspiring. After the assemblage sang "America" and "The Star-Spangled Banner" the employees returned to their respective duties in the shop.

Mr. Bowser's speech to the employees that the purpose of impressing upon the minds and hearts of his employees the meaning of the war situation, Mr. Bowser said in part:

"Know, friends, we are confronting a climax in the country's history. I am speaking to you now to ask that you practice economy in every form. Nothing is to be wasted. We must save every dollar we can so the United States of America will come through this war successfully—so that our families will be saved from want. Plant gardens in your back yards. Save your money. Individually this will help you and you will aid in the conservation of national resources.

"Don't think that the only thing we Americans have to do is fight. It isn't. We have to keep the country in plenty. We have to care for our families. We have to keep in such a condition as to permit of our standing behind the president.

ROYAL RAIMENT FROM AMERICAN SPECIFICATIONS

Royal wardrobes from American dress patterns? Ridiculous! Nevertheless it is a fact that for years the nobility of England, France, Germany and other European powers have been fashioning the garments of their women folks from identically the same tissue paper pattern that is on sale in practically every nook and corner of the United States.

The funny part of it is that, while the world recognizes that Paris originates style, few people realize that the distribution of style information and the adaptation of Paris creations to the world's millions of well-dressed women are entirely in the hands of Americans.

There is one sixteen story building in New York city entirely devoted to the business of making dress patterns and publishing magazines which go to the four corners of the earth regularly with style information gathered from the fashion centers of the world, particularly Paris. These magazines not only are read in the United States to the extent of 1,000,000 a month, but the counterpart of one of them goes regularly to England, France, Germany, Italy and the Spanish speaking countries in editions especially prepared in those languages.

Furthermore, the paper patterns, which reproduce the fashions illustrated and explained in this magazine, also go to all of these countries, where they outsell all similar magazines and patterns indigenous to those lands.

And the best part of it all is that the woman who lives in Paris, Tex., is enabled to buy the very latest pattern from the house of Butterick at the same time that the woman of Paris, France, is seeking the same pattern in the Avenue de l'Opera shop of the concern. An interesting exhibit at the New York plant is a collection of original letters from titled ladies of Europe ordering Butterick patterns or the foreign editions of The Delineator.

There are so many of these letters from French, English, German, Austrian, Russian and Scandinavian noblewomen that the eleven volume bound volumes in which they are kept are known as "Butterick's Peerage." One letter is from the British Royal household, advising that the present Prince of Wales as a child was dressed by Butterick patterns. This supremacy of a United States institution in fashion distribution is certainly gratifying to every red blooded American who believes in "America Over All."

LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE IF SICK CROSS, FEVERISH

When constipated or bilious give "California Syrup of Figs."

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad, has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative"; they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt. Advertisement.

MINIMUM PRICE FOR STAPLE FOOD CROPS

President Believed Now to Have Authority to Declare Such Order.

(By Gibson Gardner.)

Washington, April 17.—A minimum price for staple food crops, such as wheat, corn, potatoes, oats, etc., can, and probably will, be fixed by President Wilson by a simple executive order. It is not necessary to wait for congress. Food purchases are within the authority of the president as a war expense and such an order would be backed by the seven billions which congress is now making available.

To be of any help the government's offer to underwrite this year's crops must be made before the seeding time is gone. This means that it must be made within the next thirty-five days. Handled as an executive matter, an incident to the war making power, this can be done. To wait for congress would probably be fatal.

High government officials to whom I have talked say there is no question as to President Wilson's power to make this order. To buy the surplus crop—orto offer to buy it—just as necessary now as to buy powder or shot.

"The government would not, as a matter of fact, have to take over any of the crops," one official explained. "It amounts in fact only to insurance, and like most insurance, the loss does not have to be met. Yet it would furnish a security and an incentive to the farmer that would make him bring into use every roadside, every railroad right of way and every vacant lot."

The best authority on agriculture in Washington is Captain W. S. A. Smith, for years expert adviser to the department of agriculture and now a member of the farm loan board. Capt. Smith said to me:

"This crop matter should be made the subject of patriotic appeal. It is a matter of economics and should be so treated. There is no use asking farmers for the sake of their country to raise crops at a possible loss, when they can be induced to raise them at a reasonable profit. Let the government offer to buy the crop at some fixed price which the farmer can know and rely on now, and he will be able to go to the bank, borrow money for seed and perhaps even lease extra land. But without such assurance the farmer goes back to his usual reasoning that 40 bushels of corn at 79 cents is just as good as 70 bushels at 40 cents. And for him it is, and a little better, because it involves less work. But it is bad for the country and the world—bad for the hungry consumer to have it work out that way.

"Can we increase our yield enough to meet the need?"

"Given the stimulus of a guaranteed price we can do things that never have been suspected."

"Take millet alone. The staple food in Manchuria, Korea and many parts of China, is millet. It can be substituted for wheat or mixed with wheat or used as a stock feed. We can grow two or three crops of millet in a season and raise as high as 60 bushels to the acre. But the farmer will not raise millet unless he is assured of his market."

"Or take the ordinary pea. Nothing is more nutritious—nothing is better for everyday wholesome diet than peas. In Iowa we used to raise three crops a season. They can be grown by the acre, dried, run through a thrashing machine and they are ready for the winter. Pea soup is the best of foods."

"There is no use whooping it up as a patriotic duty to do these things. If the government wants the products, it can have them by naming the minimum price."

That the board of trade in Chicago should be closed is the recommendation of M. A. Taylor, president of the Live Stock Exchange National bank, of Chicago. To the advisory board of the National Agricultural society he has urged that in addition to fixing a minimum price for 1917 crops the government stop all speculation in food.

The agricultural department learns that eggs are now going into cold storage at 34 cents, which is 50 per cent higher than last year, which broke all previous records. Bacon products have increased 12 cents a pound since the first of January. Beef products are selling on a basis of 21 cents a pound slaughtered, which means 30 and 40 cents for choice cuts and 28 and 30 cents for the cheap cuts. These are typical of a market which is rioting in speculation and is rapidly approaching a panic.

GRAIN PRICES STAGE SENSATIONAL ADVANCE

Simultaneous Rise in Cereals, Hay and Flour Shatters Records.

Wheat, corn, oats, rye, barley, flour and hay were the principals in an advance of prices here Tuesday which makes all past prices look small. Prices went up at a rate hardly known at any time in the history of the country. Some weeks ago wheat outstripped the much talked of civil war record, but now oats have reached a price unheard of before, and corn has broken all records.

Wheat opened Tuesday morning at $2.48 1/2, an advance of 1/2 since the close Monday, and flour was increased accordingly. Corn, which was sold previously at $1.48 1/2, brought from $1.60 to $1.67. Oats made an increase of 30c and the new top price is $1.50. Market men never before believed that this would be possible. Rye and barley both advanced 10c.

Business at the city scales continued to be light, but what there was of it was just as interesting as any other department of the market. Five loads of hay were offered for sale and the owners received from $14.50 to $16.00 a ton. It was here that corn and oats made the spectacular high prices, also. Four loads of corn were sold and two of oats.

The city weighmaster has announced that on Thursday the scales will be closed at 1 o'clock in the day at noon in observance of Lexington day.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, April 17.--(Semi-)panic conditions ruled for a considerable time today on "chance" here, with prices breaking nearly 10c in wheat, fully 10c in corn and more than 10c in provisions. The chief cause was the action of the Canadian government making possible the importation of Canadian wheat duty free into the United States. Extraordinary activity, as well as big price changes attended the trading, especially in wheat.

Opening prices, which ranged from 2 1/2 to 3c lower, with May at $2.30 to $2.32, and July at $1.91 to $1.97, were followed by further setbacks, carrying July wheat down to a level, but to the market rallied to $1.90, 2c to 5c under yesterday's finish.

Corn dropped chiefly on account of the wheat weakness. After opening 1c to 1c off, the market recovered to within 1c to 1c of yesterday's finish. Oats showed relative steadiness. Liquidating sales by holders were the rule in provisions.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET. New York, April 17.--Important stocks were under further pressure at the opening of today's markets, declines ranging from material fractions to a point in Coppers, Mexican Petroleum, Central Leather, American Locomotive, Industrial Alcohol and Studebaker. Rails were irregular, with the exception of Reading and Union Pacific, which gained a point each. Shipplings, the weak feature of the previous day, were steady to firm on short covering. Marine preferred making an extreme advance of 1 1/2 points, with a point for Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies. Ohio Gas featured the more speculative issues at a gain of 3 1/4 points.

The forenoon resolved itself into a contest between an aggressive short interest and purchasers for the lower account, the latter buying freely at long accounts. Shipplings were again the center of attack. Marine preferred losing 3 1/4 points, with 1 1/2 for the common and 3 1/2 for Steel, Gulf and West Indies. U. S. Steel lost almost a point, with reversals of one to three points for less active industrials, including Indiana, oils, motors, Central

MAN'S JOB CONVICTED OF FAMILY NEGLECT

Judge Tells Crane Worker to Secure Hoist in His Wages.

Gary Lemay, a steam crane operator in one of the large manufacturing concerns of the city, is able to raise everything but his wages, it appears from the testimony offered in the police court case in which he was charged with family neglect, Tuesday morning. He assists in working the lifting machine for a salary of $11.80 a week. He was able to account for all the money, which was swallowed up in house rent and baby's shoes.

"What you need is a real job," Judge Kerr told Lemay. "You haven't a job now. You are just working."

Lemay promised to do his best for his family and the case was dismissed.

Two Other Neglect Cases.
Jacob Weber was charged with child neglect. He furnished bond to insure his paying $10 a month towards the keeping of his children.

Marion Colon was convicted of a like charge. He was placed under $100 bond upon an order to pay $4 a week for keeping of his child.

Case of Arthur Bailey, Leo butcher, who is charged with driving the automobile which struck Imogene Brooks, daughter of John Brooks, 2008 North Clinton street, two weeks ago, was continued until Friday. Several witnesses for the prosecution had not been notified to be in court Tuesday morning.

The girl who was hit by an automobile, has been removed to her home from the St. Joseph hospital and is expected to recover. Several residents of Leo and Imogene street, that vicinity were in court Tuesday, in readiness to testify to the reputation of Bailey, who claims he was not driving the car which ran over the child.

Other Police Court Cases.
Charles Beuret, Second street, who faced four previous convictions on intoxication charges, was fined $50 and sentenced to thirty days at the state farm. He will be at the institution for three months.

Other cases of public intoxication were: Paul Klinecher, three previous convictions, fined $50 and sentenced to thirty days at the farm; John Madden will be tried next Monday.

Harry Auspach was fined $10 and costs because he is alleged to have waxed disorderly when Carrie Connors, 617 Clinton street, attempted to collect a board bill from him Monday afternoon.

Clarence Lyon was fined $1 and costs on a charge of defrauding Walter Smith, 917 Eliza street, a boarding house keeper. Lyon pleaded that he had been ill and unable to meet his bills.
